

President Pledged To Battle For His 'Fair Deal' Program

By ERNEST B. VACCARO
Kansas City, Sept. 30 (AP)—President Truman confronted Capitol Hill opponents today with a new threat to keep congress in session until it enacts his entire "Fair Deal" program.

And, if that course fails, he said the Democrats "will win with that program" in 1950 and again in 1952.

In fighting words, he sounded the keynote for Democratic orators in next year's congressional campaigns at a testimonial dinner for the party's national chairman, William M. Boyle, Jr. Boyle, like the president, is a Jackson county Missourian.

Scientist Named In Atomic Leak

War Secrets Slipped To Communist Spy

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL
Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—The House un-American Activities Committee today named Joseph W. Weinberg, University of Minnesota professor, as the "scientist X" accused of slipping wartime atomic secrets to a Communist spy.

The committee recommended in a report that the justice department prosecute Weinberg on charges he lied under oath in:

1. Denying Communist party membership and attending young Communist league meetings; 2. Knowing Communist leader Steve Nelson; 3. Knowing Nelson's secretary, Bernadette Doyle.

Nelson, the committee says, "is engaged in securing information regarding the development of the atomic bomb from scientist X."

That was back in 1943, the committee adds, when Weinberg was employed at the radiation laboratory at the University of California. The laboratory helped perfect the A-bomb.

The story of the Nelson-Scientist X case is an old one the committee first unfolded a year ago. But while the identity of Scientist X was widely known around Washington, the committee waited until today to put the finger on him by name.

During the intervening year it tried to weave around Weinberg a network of evidence to support its demands that he be brought to trial on perjury charges.

Today's report brings out some of that evidence, based largely on intelligence reports and on statements of security officers for the atomic project that they saw contacts between Nelson and Weinberg and Bernadette Doyle and Weinberg.

Long Tieup Settled At Goodrich Rubber

Dayton, O., Sept. 30 (AP)—Negotiators announced today they had agreed to settle the 34-day old Goodrich rubber strike of 16,000 workers.

Asa Tiller, international representative of the CIO United Rubber Workers, said a new contract will be signed late this afternoon with the B. F. Goodrich Co.

The strike over wages and pensions started Aug. 27 and affected production workers in Goodrich plants in Akron, Tuscaloosa, Ala., Cadillac, Mich.; Clarksville, Tenn.; Los Angeles, Oaks, Pa., and Miami, Okla.

Highway Audit Is Misleading, Ziegler Claims

Controversial Report Goes Back 15 Years

By JACK I. GREEN
Lansing, Sept. 30 (AP)—State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler charged today that reports of a controversial highway department audit are "distorted and misleading because they tell only part of the story."

Ziegler, in his first detailed statement covering the audit, replied point-by-point to the major criticisms in the audit—the first in the department's history.

Meanwhile, acting on Governor Williams' instructions, Attorney General Stephen J. Roth prepared to open an investigation of the department to determine whether state laws had been violated. Ziegler is a Republican, Roth and Williams Democrats.

Ziegler said the audit was ordered a year ago by Auditor General Muriel K. Aten, another Republican, "with my knowledge, consent and approval as I was as much interested in having an analysis of our financial controls and suggestions for improvement in methods as was the Auditor General."

Shrinkage Explained

Ziegler emphasized that the audit covers a period of 15 years of administration of the highway department under four highway commissioners. (These were Murray D. Van Wagoner, Democrat, 1933-41; G. Donald Kenney, Democrat, 1941-42; Lloyd B. Reid, Democrat, 1942-43; and Ziegler, Republican, 1943-49.)

Here are Ziegler's answers to the major criticisms of the audit:

1—A $113,000 inventory shortage.

"The report shows materials and supplies shrinkage of some $113,000 over a 10 year period under four highway commissioners. Our current inventory of such items exceeds $1,200,000 and exceeded $100,000,000 during the

Hemans Faces Bribery Charge

Graft Witness Back In Ingham Court

Lansing, Sept. 30 (AP)—Charles F. Hemans, one-time star witness for the sensational state graft grand jury, popped out of the frying pan into the fire today.

Fresh out of federal prison where he served a term for fleeing the state to avoid further testimony against legislators and special interest groups, Hemans faced arraignment today (2:45 p. m.) on a bribery charge.

Thus he stood where he had sent nearly 100 persons on whom he put the finger as payers or receivers of legislative bribes when he acted as informer for the grand jury under a grant of immunity.

Prosecutor Charles R. MacLean of Ingham county said that Hemans probably would be released on bond at the arraignment. Circuit Judge Charles H. Hayden was slated to act as magistrate.

Defense attorneys reportedly planned to demand examination, the date of which was expected to be set this afternoon.

Hemans will remain in Ingham county jail at Mason until the arraignment. He was taken there early today following his transfer from federal to state jurisdiction.

Controller Denies Holding Up State Highway Revenue

Lansing, Sept. 30 (AP)—State controller Robert T. Steadman denied today that he was preventing the highway department from paying $238,000 in weight tax money to the counties.

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler appealed to the Attorney General, accusing Steadman of blocking the payment on the grounds that the sum was not provided for in last year's budget.

Ziegler said the sum was collected in excess of expected weight tax revenues, but that it was all owed to the counties, anyway, and should be paid at once.

Steadman said the highway department actually was blocking the payment. He contended he had offered to let it be paid now and charged against next year's budget, but that Ziegler had refused such an offer.

Soldiers Are Chased From Othello, Wash. By Pitchfork Band

Othello, Wash., Sept. 30 (AP)—Enraged townsfolk, many of them armed with pitchforks and pick handles, chased four carloads of Mose Lake Air Force base soldiers out of town last night.

Mayor Clyde Matthews estimated the number of air force enlisted men at 18 to 25, and said about an equal number of townsfolk also figured in the affray.

The fight apparently was an outgrowth of an incident here a week ago when two air force men were chased out of town after creating a disturbance.

Matthews said he believed the soldiers organized the four-car "invasion" last night as a reprisal.

American Billions Start Moving Soon To Bolster Europe

By DON WHITEHEAD

Washington, Sept. 30 (AP)—Congress sent to President Truman today the second of two bills designed to pump $7,124,000,000 into foreign recovery and military aid.

The president's signature was the only thing needed to start the dollars working in the giant effort to defeat Russia in the cold war.

The Senate completed action last night on a $5,809,990,000 program to bolster the economies of Western Europe and other friendly nations.

The big money bill was approved without a word of opposition. A short time earlier the House had passed the bill with critics taking only a brief final slap at the program.

Two days ago Congress authorized a $1,314,010,000 arms bill. The measure provides enough cash to start shipments of $450,000,000 worth of arms overseas. The rest of the money must be provided later by appropriation.

Government officials said yesterday the first arms cargoes will begin moving to Atlantic Pact countries by mid-November. American military experts are due to go overseas in about two weeks to pave the way for these shipments.

Most of the recovery dollars will pour into Western Europe. The Marshall Plan nations will receive $3,628,380,000 in cash and have another $150,000,000 available in loans during the present fiscal year which ends next June 30.

The bill also contains:

$912,500,000 for army occupation costs in Germany, Austria, Japan and the Ryukyu Islands.

$45,000,000 for Turkey and Greece.

$1,074,000,000 to cover Economic Cooperation Administration costs during the last three months of the 1949 fiscal year which ended June 30.

$110,000 for expenses of a Congressional watchdog committee staff to check on foreign aid spending.

At White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., where UMW Chief John L. Lewis has been holding sporadic contract talks with northern and western operators, both sides freely admitted yesterday they are getting nowhere.

This led the Port commission to cancel its agreement last night with the Hawaiian pineapple company for unloading on the commission dock. A clause permitted cancellation in case of labor violence. The action came before the company had moved any pineapple from the waterfront.

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Sept. 30 (AP)—John L. Lewis today ordered Pennsylvania's 80,000 hard coal miners and 22,000 soft coal diggers west of the Mississippi to go back to work Monday.

As far as these men are concerned it ends a walkout started Sept. 19.

The move was announced in a telegram from Lewis to presidents of the affected United Mine Workers' districts.

The telegram said: "The suspension of mining in the western and anthracite areas is not now vital to the pending wage negotiations."

It said the action was taken "to minimize loss to all parties."

TRAIN KILLS FATHER

Saginaw, Mich., Sept. 31 (AP)—Returning home from the hospital where his wife had given birth to a daughter earlier in the day, Florentio Webber, 44, of Carrollton was fatally injured last night when his car was struck by a train.

Tokyo Rose Convicted In Treason Case

By KATHERINE PINKHAM

San Francisco, Sept. 30 (AP)—Stony faced, Iva Toguri D'Aquino heard herself convicted of treason last night—for telling American troops their ships had been sunk in Leyte Gulf and they were "orphans of the Pacific."

A somewhat reluctant federal court jury of six men and six women brought in the verdict after four days' deliberation. A surprised "Oh!" of apparent disappointment, swept the courtroom.

Iva—Los Angeles-born and educated—remained as stoic as she had during the 12-week trial. Head bowed, she said nothing. No tears. Later she told her attorney "I can't understand it." An appeal is planned.

October 6 was set for sentencing. The minimum sentence would be five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine; the maximum—death. But the government did not ask the death penalty.

Foreman John Mann said the jurors would have liked to acquit the 33-year-old woman known to GIs as Tokyo Rose, but "We did the only thing we thought possible" under the judge's instructions.

Actually, she was convicted on only one of the eight counts in the indictment. That one related to her broadcast from radio Tokyo in October, 1944, about the Leyte Gulf battle.

Kenichi Oki, an official of Radio Tokyo, testified the defendant said "now you fellows have lost all your ships. You are really orphans of the Pacific. How do you think you are going to get home..."

That, the jury decided, was sufficiently damaging to American morale to constitute treason. Her defense was based primarily on this contention. Her wartime broadcasts on the "zero hour" were harmless entertainment and she and prisoners of war on the same program really tried to boost instead of lower morale.

Twice Murray agreed to a strike truce, requested by Mr. Truman, while negotiations for a new steel pact continued.

Now—it's a contract or a strike. And, says Murray, if it's a strike the steel industry forced it on the workers.

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP)—The nation's traffic deaths in the first eight months of 1949 totaled 19,290, the National Safety Council said today. The total, including 2,750 in August, was two per cent under the toll for the first eight months of 1948.

Girl, 13, Who Killed Playmate, 7, Sent To Hospital In Joliet

Joliet, Ill., Sept. 30 (AP)—Diana Allen, 13 year old slayer of a boy playmate, was ordered sent to a mental hospital yesterday after he was found insane by a circuit court jury.

Diana, who signed a statement that she drowned Charles Johnson, 7, to satisfy an "urge to kill," made an unsuccessful attempt to escape after the verdict. She broke away from a matron as she was being led across the street from the Will county courthouse to the county jail. She was caught by a deputy sheriff after a short chase down the street.

The girl had been in jail for five months. She admitted drowning the Johnson boy in a drainage ditch on April 30.

Iron Furnaces Banked; Picket Lines Formed

Last-Minute Pension Dickers Deadlocked

By LEE LINDER
Pittsburgh, Sept. 30 (AP)—The nation's CIO steelworkers are set to strike at midnight tonight for company-paid pensions and insurance. They say they'll settle for nothing less.

Eleventh-hour negotiations are deadlocked—but continuing.

U. S. mediators summoned union and management in a last-minute, all-out effort to avert the crippling walkout.

Already thousands of Philip Murray's steelworkers have jumped the gun in wildcat strikes. Thousands more were forced into idleness as steel mills banked furnaces, cutting production to a trickle.

Picketing has started. Police guarded mills against possible violence.

No Compromise
Meantime, union and management stuck stubbornly to demands. No one hints at compromise. Both sides decline comment on everything.

Murray, United Steelworker union president, said glumly after another fruitless talk with U. S. Steel:

"I wouldn't even comment about hope at this time."

That's how bleak the picture is. The issue is a pension-insurance program. The union wants steel firms to adopt the formula set down by President Truman's fact-finding board. This is a 10-cent-an-hour contribution paid entirely by industry. The union says it's the minimum they'll take.

Big steel rejected the proposal. Instead it offered a pension-insurance plan toward which employees would contribute.

Murray and his 500,000 steelworkers wouldn't buy that. They say:

"We've given up demands for a pay increase as ordered by the fact finding board. Now industry must yield."

Twice Murray agreed to a strike truce, requested by Mr. Truman, while negotiations for a new steel pact continued.

Now—it's a contract or a strike. And, says Murray, if it's a strike the steel industry forced it on the workers.

Sawmill Burns Near Hyde

Escanaba Firemen Are Called

A small sawmill owned and operated by Louis Shout of Hyde was destroyed by fire which started from engine sparks about 5 p. m. Thursday. Escanaba firemen were called to control the fire and to protect piles of lumber and ties in the yards near the mill, located a short distance from U. S. 2-41 near Hyde.

The board shed and the roof over the mill burned, but lumber and raw materials were not damaged.

12 New Polio Cases Listed

Twelve new polio cases were reported in Upper Michigan for the week ending Sept. 23, according to figures released by the Michigan Department of Health. A total of 170 new cases were reported in the state during this week. It brings the total of polio cases for 1949 to 2,157, in Michigan.

In 1947, at the same period, a total of 367 cases had been reported and in 1948, by Sept. 23, a total of 460 cases of poliomyelitis had been reported. This total for 1949, to Sept. 23, is about seven times higher than for the corresponding period in 1947.

By counties, here are the statistics on polio cases in Upper Michigan, for the week ending Sept. 23:

New Assault Charge Papers Filed Against Marquette Banker

Marquette, Mich. (AP)—A new declaration accusing the president of the First National Bank of Marquette and his wife of assault are on file in the Marquette county circuit court.

Counsel for Mrs. Marie Tonella has filed suit against Young and Ruth Kaufman, brother and sister-in-law of the plaintiff, seeking $250,000 for an alleged attack upon the banker's sister.

The new declaration was filed after Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson ruled that the original summons was "illegally issued." The summons was issued by Bernard P. Barasa, Sr., and Samuel A. Rintella, Chicago attorneys. John J. Walsh, counsel for the defense, said in his motion for dismissal that neither attorney was a member of the Michigan bar and thus had no power to have the summons issued.

Too many of us are asking the federal government to do for us what our grandparents would have done for themselves.—Franklin Bliss Snyder, president, Northwestern University.

en the Democratic party last November. We proved that broken down reporters turned columnists, pollsters and misguided editors can't fool the people—at home or abroad.

"That is one of the best things that ever happened to these United States. It is a great step toward a real, honest, free press. And that is what we need worse than anything in the world in this country."

The president took the position that the party platform and his State of the Union message pointed the way to a $300,000,000,000 income for the nation and $4,000 for the average family.

"Now it is within the range of practical possibilities if we continue at the rate of growth which we have had in the past," Mr. Truman said. "We can establish an income level of $4,000 per family per year. That is not a pipe dream. It can be done. But it can't happen by itself. And it can't happen if we have a lot of pull-backs at the helm of the government."

"It is something we can do only by carrying out those programs for the growth of the country and the security of the citizen that have already shown such tremendous results in the prosperity and happiness of this country."

This three hundred billion dollar income, the president went on, "will mean great advances for all our people."

"It will," he asserted, "mean better incomes for everybody. It will lift up these families—one-fourth of our population—who have incomes less than two thousand dollars a year and place most of them in better income brackets."

Humility because we do not know more is a better attitude than disillusionment, because education cannot achieve its aim of perfection. —Prof. George W. Sherburn, department of English, Harvard University.

Trucker Dies At Nahma Mill

Skull Is Crushed By Falling Log

A top log that rolled from a loaded truck yesterday afternoon killed the truck driver, a Shingleton man, in the yards of the Bay de Noquet company mill at Nahma.

Orville John Walding, 24, had his skull crushed and died instantly when he was struck by the log at 3:45 p. m. yesterday.

Employed as a truck driver by Carl Howard of Grand Marais, Walding had just arrived with a load of logs and loosened the wrapping chains when the accident occurred. The accident was investigated by Dr. O. S. Hult of Gladstone, coroner.

The body was taken to the Beaulieu funeral home at Munising.

Walding was born April 20, 1925, in Manistique, and had lived in Shingleton for the past 15 years. He was a veteran of World War II.

Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Walding of Shingleton, his widow, Florence, a son, Robert, and a sister, Mrs. Carl Stimac.

The body will be in state at the Beaulieu funeral home at 3 p. m. Saturday and funeral services will be held in the chapel there at 10 a. m. Monday with the Rev. Gerald Harrington officiating. Burial with military rites will take place at Maple Grove cemetery.

Teachers Discuss Summer Travel At Meeting Here

Three teachers who traveled in foreign countries this summer and two who attended special workshops were guest speakers at the regular September meeting held last night for Escanaba elementary and special education teachers. About 70 teachers were present for the meeting, held in the auditorium of the Franklin school, with Miss Helen Elaine Stenson, grade school supervisor, in charge.

Miss Beatrice Geason and Miss Hilda Karpainen, who attended workshops at Indian Lake, dramatized highlights of their work there, with the assistance of Miss Ruth Backels and Miss Effie Ojanen.

Conditions in Mexico were discussed for the teachers by the Misses Marie Jacobson and Kathryn Smokovitz, who traveled through that country this summer. Teachers were particularly impressed with a report that there is no middle class in Mexico, and with the descriptions of abject poverty under which many Mexicans live.

Miss Alice Milbrand, who traveled in Guatemala on a study tour during school vacation, told the group of the graciousness and hospitality of the Guatemalans and of their efforts to make the American welcome in their country. Miss Milbrand also discussed the Indians of Guatemala, who comprise 50 per cent of the population. They live as their ancestors did, wear the same dress and pursue the same occupations, she related.

"Though the Indians never let the white man know, most of them have a deep-seated resentment," Miss Milbrand stated. She also described the dress of Guatemalans, the utter lack of sanitation, the beauty of their cathedrals, and the beautiful shrines found in each home, no matter how poor or dirty.

The teachers showed color movies of their travels in Mexico and Guatemala, and appeared in costumes worn in the countries. Each showed a number of items brought from the countries, such as articles of clothing, jewelry, sarapes, baskets, dolls and linens.

Following the travel talks, a social hour was held and refreshments were served.

period covered. These are maintenance materials and supplies and are stored and handled in more than 100 places over the state.

"Add to this fact, which is noted in the report, that because of manpower shortages during the war, physical inventories had to be abandoned. x x x Consider further that the sum involved is only about one-tenth of one per cent of the materials and supplies handled under such conditions and the shrinkage for the 10-year period becomes very unimpressive, which every business man knows from experience."

2—Operation of the state ferry fleet at a loss, contrary to law:

"While a policy of providing this transportation at reasonable rates has prevailed since the inception of the ferry service, for the past two years the department has been subject to budget control by the legislature and by its acts a loss in the operation of the ferries has been approved.

"In submitting our budget requests to the legislature we have included amounts to cover this operating loss and the legislature has approved the expenditures and granted the requests.

"To break even on the operation of the ferries the rates charged would have to be practically doubled, and this would retard flow of traffic across the straits. We do not believe the people want this done."

Dearborn Pays $50,000

3—$150,000 uncollected from municipalities:

"This figure is composed of $50,000 which was due from the city of Dearborn at the time the report was made, and has since been paid in full; and $98,000 which is owed by the city of Iron Mountain.

"The latter sum is protected to the amount of $75,000 by a bond issue of the city. The balance will be paid under terms arranged between the city and the department. The account was not ready for billing until July of this year. x x x The debt is protected by the full faith and credit of the city and will be paid in full."

4—Awarding construction contracts without competitive bids and administrative board approval:

"The highway commissioner is authorized by law to contract x x x for the construction, improvement and maintenance of trunkline highways, subject to the approval of the administrative board. All major contracts are submitted for administrative board approval.

"However, by custom and precedent, over long period of years, the administrative board has expressed no interest in passing on small, negotiated contracts which are incidental to some approved contract, involving additional work, or small projects adjacent to major operations which can be constructed at a great saving to the state because the machinery and equipment and, many times, materials are at hand."

Errors Corrected

5—Failure to spend as much construction money in northern Michigan as required by law:

"Let me remind you that when

I assumed the administration of the highway department our country was engaged in a great war. It was necessary to build access roads to war plants and roads in locations that made it possible to transport over our highways 73 per cent of Michigan's war production, which was one-eighth of the total produced in the nation.

"It is impossible to accurately balance each year because of work carried over, and the act has been taken to mean a substantial application each year, anticipating that over a period of years the location of work specified in the act will be accomplished."

6—Allocation of $2,500,000 gas tax monies to the counties incorrectly:

During most of Van Wagoner's term, Ziegler said, the money was correctly allocated. Then "for what reason we are unable to determine" the method was changed and continued without question until 1948.

"The error was first discovered in 1948, x x x We immediately remedied this situation by returning to the method used prior to 1940. We have determined the amount of money which rightfully should have been distributed during the period between 1940 and 1947 to each county and adjustments are being made. Adjustments for 1947 were made in 1948, and 1948 monies were also correctly distributed."

The plan was approved by the State Association of county road commissioners, Ziegler said.

He explained that under the correct method the money was allocated for six months and then the second six-month allocation was adjusted to provide a true picture for 12 months. Under the incorrect system, he said, the allocation was made each six months without regard to the year as a whole, causing some counties to be short-changed.

New Electric Brain May Revolutionize The Printing Trade

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEF
Associated Press Science Reporter
Boston, (AP)—A new machine with an electric brain and a flashing photo heart promises to chop down the costs of printing the newspapers, books and magazines you read.

It sets type clearly, accurately and quickly on film, without using any metal. Anyone who can type can run it, for it has a standard typewriter keyboard. Whatever you type comes out with perfectly-spaced margins, arranged by the electric brain or memory.

Each letter is projected onto film through a photo-electric gun, pulsing like a heart to record just what you've written. You push buttons to get whatever style of type you want, or whatever size from headline to small print at any moment. You can see your whole line of words and correct any errors before you push the button to photograph it.

Leading publishers and scientists unveiled the new machine and called it the most significant advance in the art of printing, in 75 years.

It promises to bring huge savings in the cost of printing, and make possible printing of more newspapers, books, magazines, and scientific journals, they said.

Present linotype machines set type from molten metal, and have a top speed of about seven or eight newspaper column lines a minute.

This machine sets 12 lines a minute, by photographing six letters a second. It could set 20 a minute, if anyone could type that fast. It saves through faster production, and can bring other savings by avoiding some stages of printing with metal type.

The strips or rolls of film that come from the machine have to be reproduced on metal. This can be done by making offset plates, or photo - engravings for regular printing methods. And scientists predict ways will be found to make up new kinds of photo- engravings cheaply and in perhaps a few minutes time.

The machine is the result of cooperative work of two French inventors, Rene A. Higonet and Louis Moyroud, the Lithomat corporation of Cambridge, and Dr. Vannevar Bush, president of the Carnegie Institution of Washington, and his associates.

As yet the photo-composing machine has no official name. One working model has been made. The finished machine will look like a big stenographer desk. They may be ready in 18 months. Costs are not yet known.

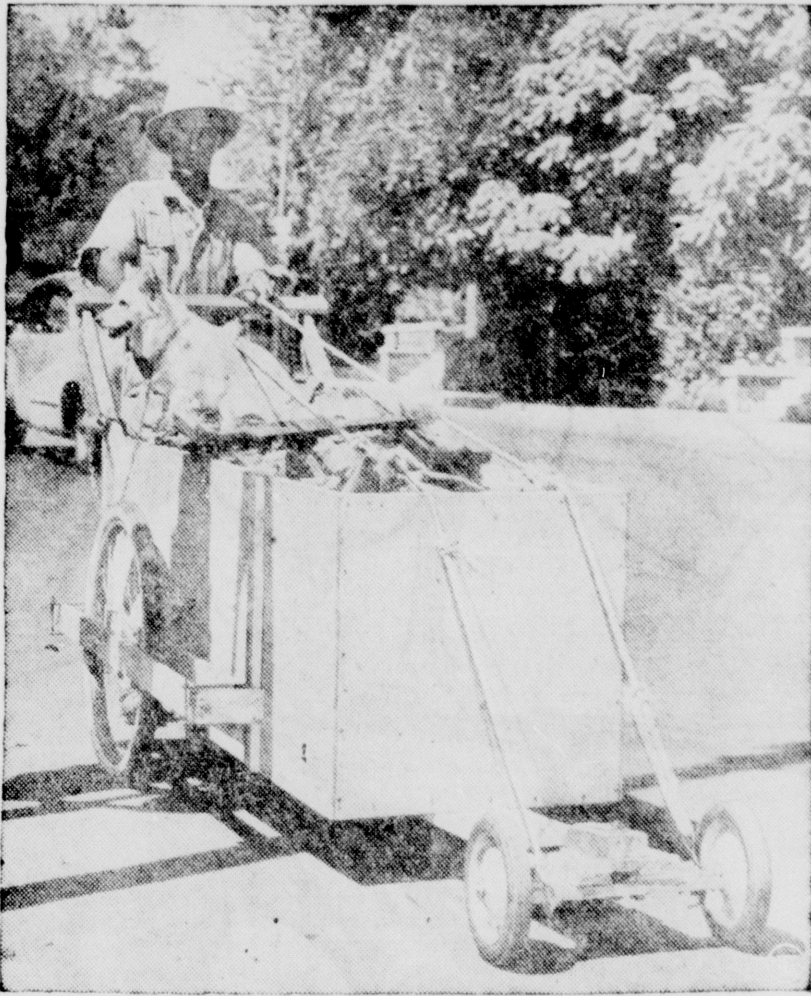

The machine is the first project of the newly-formed Graphic Arts Research Foundation, Inc., supported by 139 leading concerns to promote research toward new and better processes in printing and the graphic arts.

On the board of directors are Dr. Bush, Dr. Samuel H. Caldwell, director of the center of analysis, Massachusetts Institute of Technology; Robert Choate, publisher of the Boston Herald-Traveler Corp.; William W. Garth, jr., president of the Lithomat Corp., and Henry Laughlin, president of Houghton Mifflin Co.

Dr. Bush declared many present methods of printing are obsolete, and that changes will come fast in this field. Movable type may be on the way out, he said, and "someday we may do printing without any metal at all."

Scientific research is hampered now by the high costs of printing reports on discoveries, so that news of them doesn't spread as it should, he said. The new machine can help overcome this bottleneck, he added.

It's even possible, Dr. Bush said, that someday news stories may be sent out over wires to newspapers and be received in type in their offices in the style and size of type that each individual one wants.

SOME OF HIS DOGS NEED A REST — William Baker, a 60-year-old sign painter, arrives in Omaha, Neb., after walking 600 miles from Lusk, Wyo. The walk took four weeks, and Baker's tired dogs needed a rest, but his passenger, Skipper, was in the pink of condition. Baker inherited his love for travel from his father, a British sea captain.

Use Of Iodized Salt Advised As Aid To Health

BY FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
Washington, (AP)—The government wants every salt shaker in the nation filled with "iodized salt."

That's ordinary table salt with a little iodine added to it.

Government and other authorities have just announced a new program to encourage its use. They contend this will give the average person enough iodine to:

1. Help prevent one of the commonest forms of goiter.

2. Help fortify the people's health generally—because iodine is an essential food element and some folks don't get enough of it from their regular food.

Iodized salt is not new. As early as 1831 its use was suggested to prevent goiter. Over the years various health groups have advocated its use. Now the government, the medical profession, public health authorities and the salt industry have joined to attempt to get everyone to use it.

Dr. W. H. Sebrell of the National Institutes of Health says in an article in "Public Health Reports":

"Many people who take vitamin tablets and are careful about getting an adequate supply of vitamins neglect the iodized salt which will insure a health minimum of iodine for the normal person."

Sebrell is director of NIH's institute of experimental biology and medicine.

He says that it has been shown many times in this country and abroad that "iodine deficiency is easily corrected and better health achieved through the daily routine use of a table salt to which tiny amounts of iodine have been added by the manufacturer."

This salt is just as pure as ordinary salt, he says, just as cheap and tastes no different.

(Caution: Iodized salt is not suggested as the answer to all nutritional needs. You have to have other essential elements in your food—iron, calcium, copper and many others. Iodized salt is a handy way of getting enough iodine, but only iodine.)

Why is iodine so essential anyway?

In your neck is a gland called the thyroid. It produces a "hormone"—or chemical messenger—that is carried by the blood stream.

The hormone controls the rate of heat production in your body. It aids in stimulating the normal growth of bones, hair and skin. It helps the normal development of the brain, helps stimulate sexual development at the age of puberty. It helps in the maintenance of a normal pregnancy. And it aids in the production of an adequate milk supply for nursing mothers.

If the gland doesn't get enough iodine it doesn't function properly. One possible result of such iodine-starvation is the disease called "simple goiter." One form of "toxic (poisonous) goiter" may result as a complication of simple goiter.

Simple goiter is an enlargement

Escanaba Song Parade Oct. 22

Famous Barber Shop Quartets Booked

Nationally-known singing quartets have been signed up by the Escanaba Barber Shop chorus for their second annual harmony parade concert scheduled for Oct. 22 at the Oliver Memorial auditorium.

Headliners on the program at Escanaba will include the Cardinals quartet of Madison, Wis., who scored a big hit on the local program last year; the Chordettes girls quartet from Sheboygan, Wis., brought back again by popular acclaim; the Hi Lo quartet from Milwaukee, Wis.; and the Interludes from Midland, Mich.

In addition the Escanaba program will feature the Mis Chords, a youthful quartet from Iron Mountain; the Mariners quartet of Marinette, Wis.; the Pitch Pipers of Marquette; a quartet from the Soo barber shop chapter which Escanaba helped sponsor last year; the Escanaba Four Pipe quartet and the full Escanaba Barber Shop chorus of 40 voices, directed by Sam Ham.

Since they appeared on the first annual parade at Escanaba last year, the Chordettes girls from Sheboygan have gathered additional laurels in cross-country appearances, and have been winners on several radio programs. Their rendition of "Sweet Sixteen" has been acclaimed from coast to coast.

Tickets for the Escanaba concert are now being distributed by Barber Shop chorus members and will also be placed on sale at Gust Aspi's, Provencher's, and Gaffner's Supermarket. Last year, the Escanaba chorus was unable to supply all demands for tickets for the one-night show.

U. P. Cheated On Highway Projects

AN audit of the state highway department records, recently completed by a Detroit certified public accounting firm, revealed that the Upper Peninsula has been cheated out of $13,644,000 highway construction to which it was entitled during the period from 1933 to 1948.

This disclosure merely establishes the exact extent to which the Upper Peninsula has been denied its legal rights in road construction. That we were not getting our share has long been a record of general knowledge.

State law provides that 25% of the highway construction financed by the gasoline tax shall be expended in the Upper Peninsula. An additional 25% is supposed to be expended in the Lower Peninsula north of the Bay City-Muskegon line. The remaining 50% should be allocated to the remainder of the Lower Peninsula. The audit reveals that the southern counties got $18,436,000 more than they were entitled to in road construction and that both of the northern areas were cheated to that extent. The Upper Peninsula's rooking, however, was four times greater than the extent to which the northern Lower Peninsula was cheated.

An arbitrary division of highway funds between various sections of the state, of course, is wrong in principle. Road building should be done wherever it is needed the most. The division was established by law, however, in recognition of the fact that the Upper Peninsula had been treated as virtually an orphan of the state as far as road building was concerned. We needed good roads and we needed them urgently. Our road development program really started in earnest when the 25% allocation was granted by law, even though the records now show that we did not get all of the highway construction to which we were entitled.

Marquette Voters Favor Fast Time

MARQUETTE voters left no room for doubt of their attitude regarding fast time in a referendum on the time question this week. Proponents of fast time carried the election by a margin of more than two to one. The election results permanently settled the time issue in the City of Marquette and probably in the entire Marquette county and Alger county as well.

Marquette and Alger counties have been operating on fast time for the past year and a half. A water shortage prompted the two counties to remain on fast time last fall. Now that the power supply is adequate, the question of reverting to central time was brought up. Immediately protests were heard from advocates of fast time and the Marquette council called for a referendum to decide the issue. The voters showed a wide preference for retaining fast time. Negaunee and Ishpeming governing bodies previously had indicated a preference for fast time. Alger county generally retains the same time schedule as neighboring Marquette county. Inasmuch as all the area surrounding Alger county is now committed to fast time, it is logical to assume that Alger county folks will prefer to remain on eastern standard time.

The developments in Marquette county on the time issue means that all of eastern and central Upper Peninsula—nine of the 15 counties—will uniformly be on fast time throughout the year. Three additional counties—Iron, Dickinson and Baraga—have fast time only in the summer. The remaining three counties—Menominee, Gogebic and Ontonagon—are on slow time, or central standard time, the year around.

Hotel Signs Of The Times

MICHIGAN hotels are for the most part doing a good business, and few signs of a fall recession have been in evidence. But hotel clerks in the big towns are no longer looking down their noses at prospective guests who have been timidly approaching the desk, hat in hand. A buyer's market in hotel room space is again manifesting, and many hotel managers are sorry to say that you can get a room quickly.

Fewer people are asking for advance registrations in big town hotels, and it is becoming quite evident that they don't have to. Occupancy in the Chicago area is announced as 70 per cent for the first seven months, against 83 per cent for the corresponding 1948 period. It is generally agreed that 65 per cent occupancy, day in and day out, means break-even business for the average hotel, so the above are probably still making money, but of course no longer on a war-time scale. However, some of the larger and newer hotels figure their break-even occupancy point at 80 to 82 per cent.

Hotels everywhere are benefitting by the great increase in annual conventions. The nation-wide count is up considerably from a year ago. Conventions help bar and dining room receipts as well as room business.

New York hotels are feeling the pinch and are cutting prices. Several large hotels in the Times Square district are now selling room accommodations at $2.50 single, $4 to $5 double—a real reduction in rates. One of the flouziest hostilities in the big town recently reduced its single rates to $7, with doubles at $9. It is likely that others will follow. What goes up must come down, and many hotel rates have been sky-high for years.

The hotel business is being helped by the fact that there has been very little new hotel construction in most cities of recent years. Building costs have been so out of all reason that many a hotel man who would like to build or re-build is afraid to commit himself to the appalling overhead burden that construction now would involve. Older hotels that have been kept reasonably up to date in appointments are doing well today, and they are the ones that can ride a storm indefinitely, if it comes.

The Galloping Peso Settles Down

THE Mexican peso has been pegged at 11½ cents, in a pact with the International Monetary Fund, and a new par value has been agreed upon for the peso, at 8.65 per U. S. dollar.

It is believed that this further devaluation of the Mexican dollar is the last. In normal times it is worth 50 cents in U. S. currency. In 1948, when the Mexican government pulled the peg out from under its currency, the peso was valued officially at a bit over 20.5 cents, or five to the American dollar, a figure which afforded benefit and comfort to the U. S. traveler in that Latin-American land.

So this is supposed to be the last change in the value of Mexican money. The Bank of Mexico has stabilized the exchange rate from time to time, letting the peso slip first to around 18 cents, then 16, and on down to the present level.

The present figure looks very inviting to the prospective winter traveler from the north. But it looks better than it works out. Mexicans are advancing prices strongly. For example, when you walk into the Hotel Reforma in Mexico City and find that the lowest-priced rooms are 50 dollars Mexican and up, single, you agree that it's no bargain.

Or you tuck your napkin under your chin in Sanborn's, Mexico City, and enjoy something very special in tortillas and chili con carne. Then the check comes, 35 pesos, and you wish your appetite hadn't been so robust.

However, there are going to be bargains in Mexican travel this winter, just as there always have been. All prices will not catch up with the lagging peso, and there will be many a good buy in something that you want or need. The miracle is that our currency, with an overwhelming public debt behind it, can serve so well as the world's standard. We've got to have confidence in something, and that something may well be ourselves. Other nations feel that the American dollar is sound and stable, and it is to our advantage that this feeling continues. We are up to our necks in debt and going in deeper. What must be the financial condition of the rest of the world, when it looks to us for a solid dollar?

'JIM CROW' ON THE ALLEYS (Milwaukee Journal)

The Milwaukee County CIO Bowling league has been forced to cancel its season activities because the only available alleys will not allow Negroes to bowl.

Thus "Jim Crow" is again shown to exist on some Milwaukee bowling alleys. That will surprise no one, for the pattern has long been set by the American Bowling Congress, which practically controls bowling in the United States.

But the fact that it is known that Negroes are not allowed on some Milwaukee bowling alleys does not make it any less outrageous. It makes it more outrageous, for what is known can be corrected. Milwaukee cannot control the American Bowling Congress, but it can control activities in its own confines. It can, legally and morally, insist that Negroes are entitled to use Milwaukee's bowling alleys.

Bowling is a sport and a good one. It offers recreation to thousands of people and Milwaukee is one of the nation's bowling centers.

The city, which may play host to the ABC when the Sports Arena is finished, has, through Mayor Zeidler, let the ABC know how it feels about discrimination. If that insistence upon the guarantees of first class citizenship for Negroes is to mean anything, Milwaukee had better get some housecleaning done at home.

Take My Word

For It . . . Frank Colby

Almost everyone has occasional nightmares, and the word suggests a wild and terrifying ride on a rampaging law horse, or being trampled on by a plunging mare.

The truth is that a nightmare has no connection with horses, male or female. The confusion is caused by the fact that in English there are two "mare's"—the familiar word mare meaning "a female horse," and the little known word mare meaning "a malevolent demon of the night," from the Anglo-Saxon and Old Norse word mara, "an incubus."

Now an incubus is a demon that lies upon you and crushes you during sleep. Incubus is from the Latin incubare, "to lie upon." A similar demon is the succubus. For further details about the two words, see Webster's New International.

A mare's nest is something that is believed to be a wonderful discovery but turning out to be a delusion or a fraud. The term has been traced to the 1500's. It isn't clear which mare the expression refers to. But it seems logical to suppose that the demon is meant, for one would

More European Aid Probable

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington.—The political equation on the arms-for-Europe bill can be expressed as follows: The willingness of the administration to yield on certain points plus the resolute stand of senators Vandenberg and Dulles plus—and this is the biggest plus of all—the Russian atomic explosion equals virtually the full amount of money requested by President Truman.

Two months ago it seemed most unlikely that that congress would give anything more than a token of aid. Now the pledges implied in the Atlantic pact have been kept and a gloomy prediction made in this space in July has been proved wrong.

But whether it would have happened with the ease and speed that we are seeing in this last minute sprint without the atomic explosion somewhere in the mysterious fastness of the Soviet Union is a question. There were Republicans and Democrats in the house determined to hold out for cutting the billion dollars to the pact nations in half as the house had voted to do.

WAIT AND SEE?

While the flash of the Russian explosion resolved the immediate problem, it does not answer the questions that loom ahead in the future. Among American military men there is a feeling that it might be wise to go slow next year and see how the initial assistance is used. That, at any rate, was the attitude before the announcement of Russian success in atomic fission.

There will, however, be great pressure for another arms-aid program next year. The ministers of defense and many of the chiefs of staff of the 11 pact nations will be meeting here next week.

Each will arrive with a list of military necessities marked urgent. From the viewpoint of the security of each individual nation, they will actually be urgent necessities. The lists will include items for defense such as a radar network and the arming of at least a minimum defense force.

If the initial concept is carried through, the bulk of the billion dollars now authorized for the pact nations will go to France to provide arms for nine French divisions. It also will provide a start for tooling French munitions plants to modern production. But this will leave the chiefs of staff of the other nations in a most unhappy frame of mind.

They will understand the argument that the heart of Western Europe must be strengthened first. But with the Atlantic pact covering such a broad area, from Norway on the north to Portugal on the south, they will not want to be left completely defenseless on the fringes. The demand for a second arms-aid bill becomes almost irresistible.

But the question of spending and taxes is sharply to the fore at this point. It is related to the growing restiveness of the American taxpayer who is beginning to wonder whether there is any end to the need to help Europe, particularly as the benefits seem to him so remote and theoretical.

DANGEROUS PSYCHOLOGY

Allied to this is the feeling that if we can send all that money to Europe, then we can spend here at home, too. If I, as a congressman, vote for arms for France, then surely I'm entitled to get a dam for my district and that's just the way my people feel about it.

This psychology has real dangers in terms of the national debt and the present deficit spending. From a small town in North Dakota comes a letter typical of many:

"Please tell the American people where the billions have disappeared. Let charity begin at home. We need schools, roads, etc."

The deficit for the current fiscal year stood on September 22 at $1,668,824,876. Because of the upturn in business that deficit is less than had been anticipated. Perhaps for a country as rich as this with nearly 60,000,000 people at work it is not serious.

If, however, it continues at the present rate for the rest of the year, over six billions would be added to the national debt. What this points up is the immediate need to arrive at some over-all plan. It should be a plan that would take into account the total resources of the American economy in relation to urgent security requirements abroad and at home. Above all, it should take into account the new Soviet development.

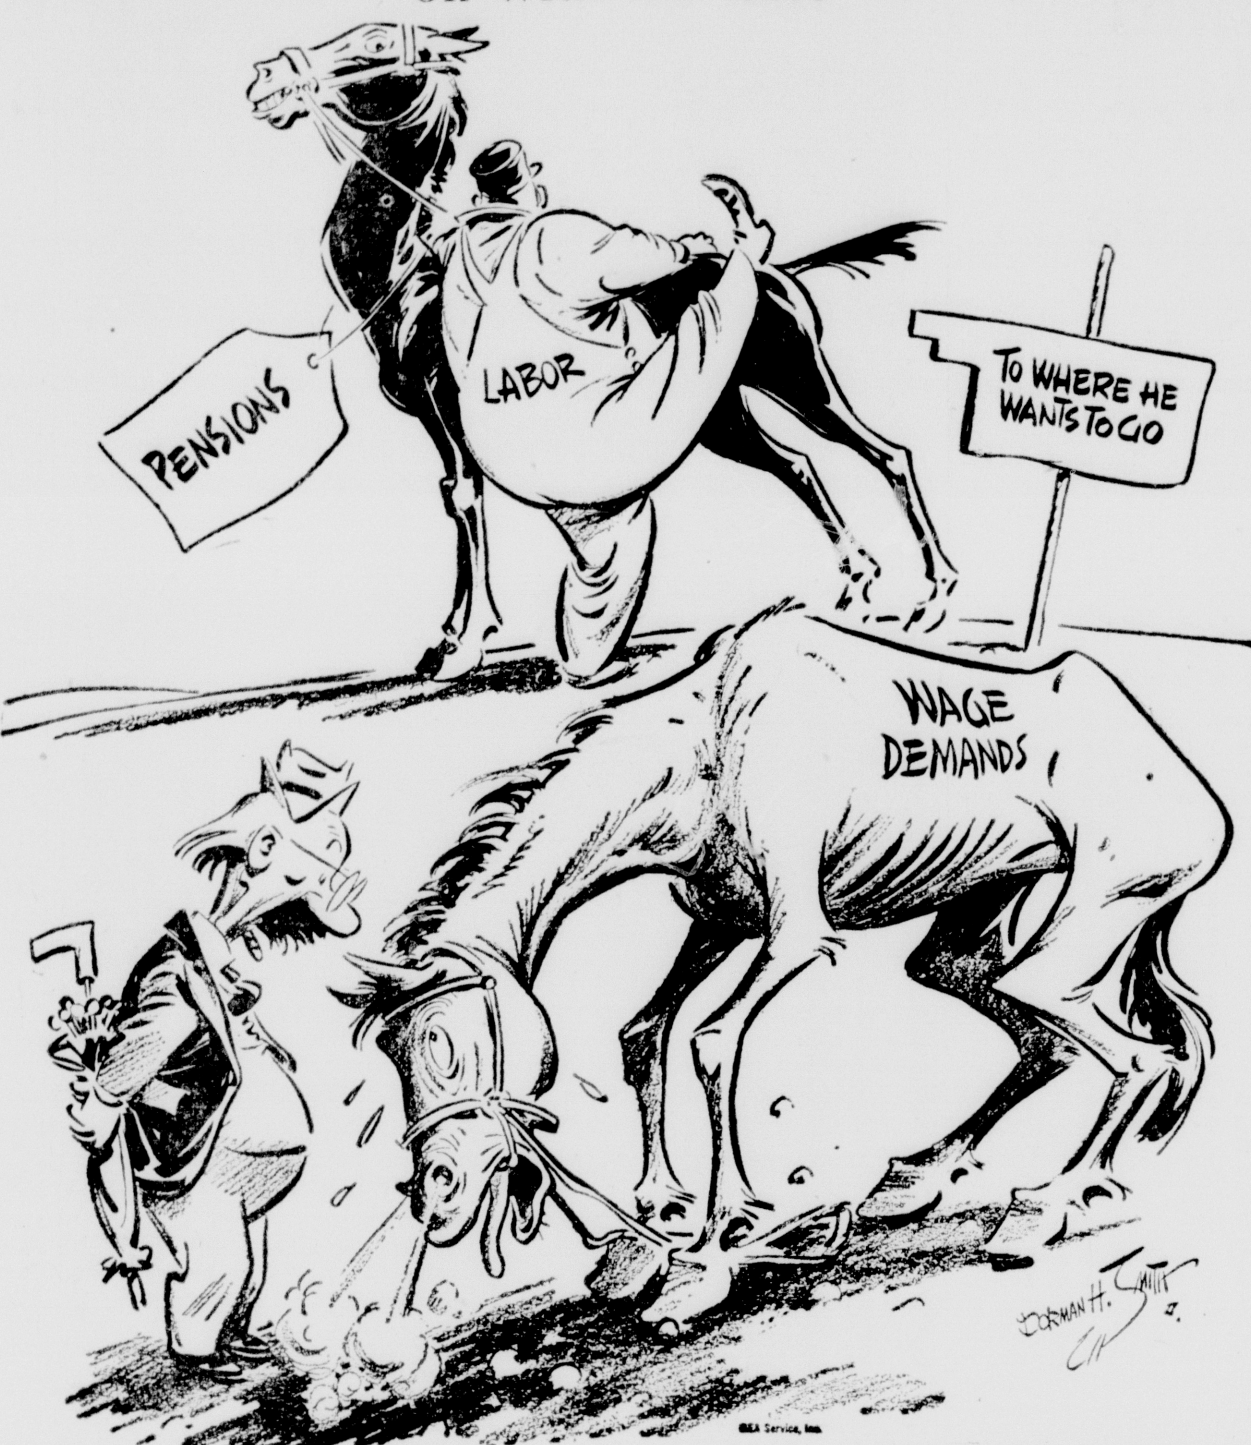

Naturally, no such plan can be final and definite in all its details. There always will be unforeseen eventualities. But without any plan, the impression is of almost day-to-day improvisation with a billion here and a billion there. And this feeling is accentuated when the people who must pay the bill are told so little about the whys and wherefores.

hardly associate a female horse with either a nest or a hoax. However, the exact origin of mare's nest is lost in antiquity.

A demijohn is a wicker-covered bottle holding from one to ten gallons. But the demi- is not the prefix meaning "half," as in demitasse. Demijohn is an English corruption of the French term dame-jeanne, "Dame Jane," a humorous name for the bottle probably suggested by its resemblance in shape to a corpulent woman with arms akimbo.

Why is a book of maps called an Atlas? It is said that the famous Flemish map maker, Gerhard Mercator (1512-1594), first used the term in allusion to the fact that most map books bore a picture on the cover or title page showing Atlas supporting the world on his shoulders. (Actually, however, Atlas was condemned to hold up

On With the Race

Good Evening

THE SAILOR—You might say

the story began with Keeler's death and a picture in the newspaper—and yet it began long before that. So Ed Voght tells me, and Ed knew Keeler, just as he knows quite a few other men famous now and in the past.

There was John Phillip Sousa of the big band and bigger fame as a composer and showman; and Gene McDonald, president of Zenith Radio corporation; and Sport Hermann—and there was Leonard Keeler, undoubtedly the most brilliant and in his field and perhaps the most famous of them all.

Ed Voght is an Escanaba drug-gist with a flair for entertaining talk and an ability to hold the friendships he makes. Ed tells without elaboration the story of Keeler's voyage from Chicago to Georgian Bay in a 400 second-hand speedboat. Keeler was one of those astounding men whose accomplishments stand with the best in fiction.

WHO HE WAS—Keeler, a native

of California, a graduate of Stanford University, inventor of the lie detector, former head of North Western University crime laboratory, famed criminologist and psychiatrist, died recently in a Sturgeon Bay, Wis., hospital.

When the Escanaba Daily Press carried announcement of his death it used a picture of Mr. and Mrs. Keeler sitting in a speed boat, with a large German Shepherd dog between them. The picture was made at Escanaba when the Keeler's visited here in 1930 enroute from Georgian Bay to Chicago. If Escanaba seems off the route, that too is a part of the story recalled by Ed Voght when the picture appeared in the newspaper.

OUT OF SIGHT—Mr. and Mrs. Keeler, their dog, and a doctor and his wife set out from Chicago for a vacation trip to Georgian Bay back in 1930. The trip was in Keeler's boat—a second-hand speedboat he had purchased for $400. Keeler was 29 years old at that time and he knew far more about criminology than boats. Georgian Bay in a speedboat? Why not? All you had to do was travel the length of Lake Michigan and the northern part of Lake Huron!

Keeler and his sea-faring party left Chicago and disappeared. No word was received from them. Their friends in Chicago, and Gene McDonald in particular, worried. Gene was a member of the Chicago Crime association at that time, he knew Keeler's lack of information on boating—and because he had sailed the lakes for years also knew its dangers.

So he and a party of friends set out for Georgian Bay in his yacht "Mizpah." Not a relief expedition, you understand. Just a cruise—but Gene wanted to know where Keeler was.

THE ACCIDENT—Gene McDonald found the party of four camped in a tent on a lonely island, one of the thousands in Georgian Bay. They were in good health and laughed at McDonald's expression of amazement that they had come so far in their small speedboat. More to satisfy him than because they were alarmed they agreed to let McDonald convey them back to Chicago, via Escanaba. They set a date for the start of the return trip and McDonald continued his cruise in the Mizpah.

The accident happened while McDonald was away.

The doctor in the party was cutting wood by lantern light one night and the ax slipped and cut off his big toe. Getting out his kit, the doctor picked up the severed toe and sewed it on. Keeler went to the mainland and telephoned Chicago. A friend who owned an airplane flew to Georgian Bay, picked up the doctor and his wife and took them to Detroit. Without waiting for the return of McDonald and the Mizpah, Mr. and Mrs. Keeler started out for Escanaba in their little speedboat.

When McDonald returned to find them gone his anxiety mounted. Because he felt he knew Keeler, he set out for Escanaba, fairly sure he would catch up with him along the route.

RIDE REFUSED—The Keelers in their speedboat were sighted by McDonald in Green bay waters near 11-foot shoal, scooting toward Escanaba. That night aboard the Mizpah, at a dinner to which Ed Voght was invited by McDonald, the whole story came out, as told by the Keelers.

Finding that Keeler had tied his boat on the north side of the North Western dock, Voght suggested that it be moored at the Hansen & Jensen dock because of a threatening north wind. He and Keeler did this. Afterward Keeler telephoned Detroit from the Ludington hotel and reported that his doctor friend of the severed toe was doing fine. No gangrene had developed and the toe was still his own. The Keelers stuck to their speedboat for the return to Chicago, refusing McDonald's offer to hoist their boat aboard the Mizpah.

So the story ends, leaving with Ed Voght the memory of Leonard Keeler's reserved yet sweet and decisive personality, and Mrs. Keeler's modesty, although she was in demand nationally for her ability at handwriting analysis. The truly great people are the most modest and approachable and friendly, Ed concludes.

Anti-Trust Suit

Dear Editor:

I confess that I am a little confused about some of the things done by the government in the name of all of the people, but I would sure like to be straightened out on the government anti-trust suit against the A&P food chain.

The suit gives me the impression that the government figures the A&P chain is bad for the people. As a housewife who must buy for a large family, I for one cannot agree with that view. My experience has been that the A&P and other food chains have helped to keep food prices down. If food prices are kept down, is that bad for the people?

I would not like to see the A&P or any other chain or anyone else have a monopoly on the grocery business. I think that's what the anti-trust laws were supposed to prevent. The A&P does not have any monopoly on the food business as anyone can surely see for himself. There are many food stores besides the A&P in every town and they are all doing a good competitive business.

I believe there's more to this anti-trust suit than what meets the eye.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

Washington.—One factor which has made the steel dispute so difficult is that both sides' hands have been semi-tied by other forces.

Tier of Phil Murray's hands is—John L. Lewis. Since Lewis, an old rival and bitter enemy of Murray, got a welfare fund from the coal operators under which the miners pay nothing, Murray cannot require his union to contribute to pensions without losing part of his membership.

Tiers of U. S. Steel's hands are—its banks and directors. The men who control the big steel companies, particularly U. S. Steel, are J. P. Morgan, together with a group of industrialists and insurance men who do not want a pension pattern set for their industries. If the steel industry pays pensions without any contribution from labor, it will set a standard for almost every other industry in the country.

WHO RUNS U. S. STEEL?

For instance, directors of U. S. Steel include: Walter Gifford—chairman of the giant American Telegraph and Telephone company, which also faces wages and pensions problems.

Sevell Avery—head of Montgomery Ward, who once was ejected from his Chicago office by U. S. troops during a labor strike. Avery is also chairman of U. S. Gypsum, director of the Pullman company, Pure Oil, Armour, Peoples Gas, Light and Coke, which also face wage and pension problems.

James Black—head of Pacific Gas and Electric, a guiding executive of the Southern Pacific railway and director of various insurance and utility companies.

George A. Sloan—director of Goodyear Tire, Bankers Trust, American Alliance Insurance Co., and a group of insurance companies.

When the president's fact-finding board first published its recommendations, Sept. 10, for a 10-cent pension and insurance plan, some U. S. Steel executives indicated to newsmen that this would be acceptable. Then, suddenly, on Sept. 11, word was passed out that the bankers behind U. S. Steel objected. They did not want big steel to set up a pension pattern for other industries under which labor did not contribute.

Note 1—John L. Lewis already has started to crow over Phil Murray in the United Mine Workers Journal for surrendering on the fourth round of wage increases. Insiders say he is just itching to crow again on any Murray compromise over pensions.

Note 2—It was U. S. Steel—which owns extensive captive coal mines—which helped set the welfare fund pattern by which John L. Lewis and his miners do not have to contribute to the fund. If this precedent had not been set, it would have been easier for both Murray and the steel industry to do business.

BILBO'S LAWYER

It looks like the lawyer who defended the late Senator Bilbo of Mississippi against charges brought in the U. S. senate would now be paid $6,000 by the same senate which did not seat Bilbo.

The lawyer, Forrest Jackson, served as Bilbo's attorney in warding off impeachment. Bilbo, because of his health, was never impeached, and died before any proceedings were brought.

Therefore, since it is customary for the taxpayers to pay for a senator's defense as long as he is not impeached, Attorney Jackson turned in his bill to the senate, and the man who replaced Bilbo, Sen. John Stennis, tried to get the senate to pay.

However, Rules Chairman Curley Brooks of Illinois who was supposed to pass on the matter, pleaded that he was up for re-election, begged Stennis to hold up the bill until the 81st congress.

Now Stennis has submitted the bill to the new rules chairman, Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, and a subcommittee quietly approved the $6,000 fee. It is planned to bring the matter up quietly on the senate floor during routine business in order to avoid publicity.

TRUMAN ON FARM PHONES

One of the first persons President Truman saw after announcing that Russia had exploded the atom was genial Jim Patton, boss of the National Farmers Union.

"That's mighty tough business, Mr. President," Patton said, as he entered the presidential office.

"I had to make the announcement once we were sure," replied Truman, in tight-lipped seriousness. "I can assure you it wasn't tasteful."

Turning to a more peaceful topic, the president promised Patton his full support in getting the rural telephone bill through the senate during this session. It has already passed the house.

"Farmers are really steamed up about this bill," reported Patton. "They feel they have as much right to a telephone as city folks. Also, the practical need for bringing phone service to farms that do not have it is getting more urgent all the time. Broilers and other equipment on a great many farms are now operated by electricity."

"When there are breakdowns, farmers have great difficulty getting a repair man if they don't have telephones."

"Jim, we'll get that bill enacted," predicted Truman, "even though we're fighting one of the biggest trusts in the country."

Note—The president referred to the American Telephone and Telegraph company, which has been lobbying vigorously against the rural telephone bill.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Congress seems to be over the unemployment jitter. A few weeks ago, the joint committee on the economic report was all steamed up to investigate unemployment. But the whole thing has now been quietly called off. . . Jimmy Roosevelt and Congresswoman Helen Douglas were the two stars of the western states Democratic conference.

Race For Rich Pinelands Started Fabulous Era Of U. P. Lumbering

Story Is Told By Carl Sawyer For History Society

(This is the first part of a "History of Lumbering in Delta County," prepared by Carl J. Sawyer for Escanaba for the Delta County Historical Society. Other installments will appear in succeeding issues.)

By CARL J. SAWYER

This is an attempt to write a history of lumbering and the lumbering industry in the vicinity of Escanaba, Michigan for the Delta County Historical Society. The area covered by it is that part of Upper Michigan for which Escanaba was a trading center; also that part of the country which drained its waters into Little and Big Bays De Noc and Green Bay. It covers all of Delta, parts of Alger, Marquette, Dickinson and Menominee counties. The names of some of the lumbermen in this district would also be found in any history of adjacent areas. The methods herein described would apply to most lumbering areas in the Lake States.

It was compiled by a man who first engaged in woods work in 1889 in Itasca County, Minnesota, about the time that district was surveyed. He later came to Escanaba in 1906 as a cruiser, later engaged in lumbering and personally knew some of the men in this industry and had the opportunity of listening to one of the finest men and best cruiser who helped survey parts of the Upper Peninsula under Mr. William Burt. This man was Charles E. Brotherton.

From him I received much information about early history in the Upper Peninsula. I have tried to obtain information from all possible sources and to the best of my knowledge what is herein recorded are the facts. Some of the facts may be unintentionally slighted.

Surveys and Pine

This district was surveyed about 1844-45 and prior to the start of the lumbering industry and the only white people interested in the woods were the trappers and land lookers (later called Cruisers). Some of the trappers did a little cruising and locating of the pine areas and sold their knowledge to men interested in owning pine lands. Mr. W. L. Marble's father was one of these trappers that did some locating. Many others made some money in the same way.

Much of the pine lands were purchased direct from the U. S. Government; while some was purchased through what was called "Scrip." "Scrip" was a right issued by the Government to all soldiers who served in the Civil War entitled them to 160 acres. This Scrip was bought up by people and used in the purchase of lands. I have heard a story about one New Englander entering into an agreement with some of the U. S. surveyors by which he obtained a list of pine lands from them about the time the survey was completed; thus enabling him to get his pick of the lands while others were still cruising them.

Large land grants were given the C&N.W. Ry. and the Detroit, Mackinaw and Marquette Ry. for the building of these railroads. A large grant was made to the Aver Estate for making a road from Green Bay to the Copper Country, called the Military Road.

Settlers Clear Land

When lumbering started the people engaged in it became small scale farmers who bought or squatted on lands and raised such crops as they could, which together with what they earned in lumbering or river driving enabled them to live. They cleared a little more land each year, which constituted the start of the farms as we know them now. This clearing was done by hand and team. Trees were cut down, rolled into heaps and burned. Potatoes and gardens were planted among the stumps. The second year oats with grass seed was sown by hand, crop cut with a scythe, new land used for potatoes. The hay was cut by hand and left the land in hay for several years which rotted the stumps so it could be plowed.

Each of the large lumbering companies had what they called farms. They kept their horses over the summer and raised crops and hay for their camps; thus saving the costs of the long haul of supplies, which was a real job. The first roads were the "Tote" or "Supply" roads of the lumbermen. The settlers took up what were called "Homesteads" along these roads. These were "Tracts" from 40 to 160 acres they could own by complying with the "Homestead Laws." The laws required they build a house on the land, clear a portion each year, plant a crop, live on it 6 months each year for five years and then would obtain a patent or deed to the land.

Also 160 acres was available as a "Stone and Timber Claim" at a nominal sum.

Boney Falls Area

The roads were terrible, especially during the wet season. The first settlers were real pioneers, living off the land and forest, game and fish together with what they could earn during the winter in woods work. Their buildings were made of logs and sometimes a little lumber which they sawed by hand with a Whip Saw. This resembled what we know as an "Ice Saw" operated by two men, one above the log to pull the saw up and one below to pull it down. This was a slow hard job, but cost them nothing but their own time and eliminated the hauling for perhaps 40 or 50 miles over roads which were quite often impassable with a load.

Around 1850, at what is now the Boney Falls dam, a Mr. Wm. Kingsley settled and logged for the I. Stephenson Company for a good many years. The county road between Escanaba and this dam follows very closely the old supply road of early days. North of Mr. Kingsley was a settler named Raymond, above him was a Mr. Kohlberger, whose place was later owned by Mike Welch of this city. I traveled this road in 1906 and well remember the mud holes and corduroy in the swamps. "Corduroy" was small timbers laid alongside each other over wet or boggy places.

In hauling supplies to the camps heavy, wide tired wagons were used. When the roads were bad four horses were sometimes used to haul one ton of supplies. Such supplies as would not spoil were hauled to the headquarter camp all during the summer to be used during the winter. The camps hired a hunter during the cold weather, whose job it was to keep the camp in fresh meat. The deer were very plentiful and there were no game laws.

The Woods Indians

The first inhabitants of this district were the Indians, mainly of the Ojibway (sometimes called Chippewas or Ojibwes) tribe. These Indians all used the language of the Chippewas in Minnesota. I have heard Ottawas in Manitoulin Island in Lake Huron use this language also and am led to believe they were much similar. All these were woods Indians.

Their needs of wood or trees were for poles around which they stretch bark or skins for a wigwam (Waukigan in Chippewas) for fire and heat, for dug out canoes and for birch bark canoes. These bark canoes were much used by all of the woods Indians. They were seaworthy and serviceable. The bark canoes were made from the bark of a large white birch tree. The bark must be free from knots or openings. This bark was sewed together with a fibre obtained off the roots of a cedar tree. The ribs were made of cedar which was straight, grained, were split out and bent to the form desired. All seams were painted over with a mixture of spruce gum mixed with grease of some form which made it water proof.

On their journeys they carried a pitch pot which could be heated up and any leak cured easily.

They did not use oars as we know them. Only paddles which were made of spruce or cedar, possibly some white pine or ash.

I have been told that they set fires to make better hunting grounds. I think this is correct as the field notes show prairie country in many places and brought on good blueberry crops. The Indians lived in settlements, especially during the summer. They grew corn and beans on the land they had cleared.

The Roberts Family

According to the original surveyor's field notes there was an Indian trail from the head of Little Bay De Noc to Grand Island where there was a trading post before this district was surveyed.

The first white man in this district seems to have been Louis A. Roberts, an Indian Trader who came here about 1830 and may have been interested in the Clark Water Power Mill on the Whitefish. Roberts lived on the Whitefish in 1844 and seems to have lived along the Grand Island Trail as one of the descendants. Mr. Gust Roberts, now living east of Rapid River, tells me that his grandmother lived north of the Haymeadow Creek. He has been at the site several times, but it is hardly definable now. He is a grandson of Louis A. Roberts. Mrs. Ethier of Negaunee is a granddaughter of Louis Roberts, and sister of Gust Roberts.

Mr. Roberts tells me of an occasion at Clark's Mill. His grandmother took a small boy who had a broken leg to a doctor in Green Bay by canoe in two days. Mr. Gust Roberts is now 74 years old. His brother, Alec, whom I knew quite well passed away some time ago.

The U. S. Survey

Mr. Burt invented what was called a "Nonius" which was a combined Sun Dial and needle compass about 1844. This "Nonius" was used thereafter in all surveys.

The surveying in this district, and I think quite general, was let out on bids. To make any wages they had to really work, averaging 6 miles per day.

Tents, equipment, tools and groceries had to be transported by whatever means possible.

The first crew ran out the township and range lines. A town ship is six miles square, east and west lines called "Town" lines and North and South lines called "Range" lines.

Every sixty miles the town lines were used as connection lines because of the curvature of the earth.

After the township lines were run the sub-divisional crew went in and ran the section lines. The section lines were put in by starting at the southeast corner of a "Town," going west one mile, from there running a line north as far as they could, putting in the 14 corners as they went and blazing trees along the line. When they arrived at one mile from the starting corner, they made a Section Corner, which consisted of a stake, two bearing trees, and two witness trees, which trees were blazed off flat on the side toward the stake. The range, town and section numbers were cut into the tree with a "Scroll". The bearing trees having a notch below the bearing with the letters B T cut into the wood just above the notch. To reset the corner, if the stake is gone, the measurement from the notch is used. The field notes show the size of each tree, kind of tree, compass bearing and chainage from notch to stake.

Some Errors Made

They then turned approximately 90 degrees and ran east on what is called a "Random Line." They made very few blazes but chained as they went and noted how far they were out at the corner.

ner on the Range line, after which they retraced their way establishing the 14 corner on or off the Random Line as the case might be, based on how they came out at the range line corner.

They then continued the procedure to the north town lines. Thus all overages or fractions were left on the north tier of forties. They then started two miles west of the starting corner and went north again, as above described, and continued to the west side of the fifth section, where they did as before, except that after randoming east they also randomed west to the Range line. This left all fractions on the west tier of forties in the sections along the west line.

Sometimes where a township was part water they ran from the land to the water leaving all fractions on the water side.

The Nonius was a great help inasmuch as there are many places where a compass is affected by Magnetic Attraction which is continually changing. This instrument is run by the shadow of the sun, thereby eliminating the need of depending on the needle. However, the needle was usually loosened and a note made of the difference between a sun and the needle reading.

They did not clear out very many trees but chained around them. No doubt, they sighted on trees, and set up again after passing. The chaining was also around trees and over windfalls, so there was bound to be some differences when they tied in at the town or range lines.

On the East Line of Section 13 Town 43 Range 22 the notes show that the sun was not shining, and they offset against the attraction as best they could. While I looked a long time for the 14 corner, I could not find any evidence of it or a blazed line anywhere.

At the 14 corner between sections 26 and 35 Town 41 Range 25 the attraction is so strong that the north end of the needle points south.

Re-surveys Ordered

However, some of those surveyors did a grand job. The lines can be easily retraced, especially in Delta county. In some places, the first survey was cancelled, a re-survey made. This causes some confusion to anyone not knowing of it. They did not always cut off the bearings in the cancelled survey as they were supposed to do. Such cancellations were infrequent, and was caused by the evidence of errors in the survey notes.

In some cases they ran a line through the center of a township and randomized 3 miles. This was not the usual thing.

Approximately 40 rods from each corner or quarter post a tree was marked by two axe blazes on each side and called a "Sight Tree". Supposedly these were in the line, but this was not always the case and should be considered only a monument of distance. On all larger streams and also on the shore of lakes an additional corner was made called a "Meander Corner". This determining the distance from the nearest corner and where the line intersects the water.

There were errors in chaining. On the range line between Town 36 Ranges 24 and 25 they dropped one whole tally between the west quarter post of Section 6 and the town corner. This error was discovered by the sub-divisional crew. The notes show they did their best to correct this but it leaves a considerable fraction along the north town line.

The original corner stakes were notched on each corner of the stake according to the distance from the town and range lines. This enabled some of the early land lookers or cruisers to determine what corner it was, even though they could not read.

The early surveyors had no grind stones with which to sharpen their axes, but did carry files for that purpose.

Oil Shale Exploiting Unlikely In Michigan

Lansing, (P)—It is unlikely that Michigan's oil shales will support commercial exploitation such as is being demonstrated in Colorado, state geologists report.

The federal government has set up a "pilot plant" for the extraction of oil from shale near Rifle, Colo. Techniques for extracting the oil cheaply will be demonstrated next week.

H. J. Hardenberg, economic geologist for the Michigan conservation department, said that Michigan has a fairly extensive deposit of oil shale in the lower peninsula.

He added, however, that a U. S. Bureau of Mines test made in 1921 showed that samples of the Michigan shale would produce from 9.4 to 3.9 gallons of oil per ton.

The Colorado shale being mined at the Rifle plant is rated at up to 70 gallons per ton.

The Michigan deposit of oil shale runs in a rough, broken circle around the lower peninsula Hardenberg said. The most extensive deposit runs across the top of the peninsula, occurring in Manistee, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Antrim, Charlevoix, Emmet, Cheboygan, Montmorency and Alpena counties. Another part of the circle appears in St. Clair, Macomb, Oakland, Wayne, Washtenaw and Lenawee counties. There is another small section of it in Berrien county.

In Most places, however, it is covered with thick deposits of clay, gravel and sand.

Offsetting the disadvantages of low quality and relative inaccessability of the Michigan shale, Hardenberg said, is the fact that it is close to a good supply of water, which is needed in the extraction process in quantity, and to markets.

Hardenberg said he doubled the advantages would be enough to outweigh the disadvantages. The geologist explained that oil shales contain kerosene, a solid hydrocarbon. The government plant at Rifle extracts the hydrocarbon and it is converted into oil and gasoline.

He added that the upper peninsula contains no known deposits of oil shale. There is an extensive deposit of shale running roughly east and west in the center of the eastern part of the upper peninsula. This deposit, however, contains no kerosene, he said.

Shut-In Boys In Reno Have Own Scout Troop

GOOD SCOUT: Bed-ridden George Houx of Reno, Nev., who lost his right arm in an accident, belongs to Scout Tribe 110, exclusively for shut-ins. Regular scout Don Pettigrew is about to give George a lesson in left-handed writing. Cards on the wall were sent by well-wishers.

Reno, Nev.—(NEA)—Paralyzed and crippled boys can now share with healthy youngsters the excitement of being Boy Scouts.

Scout Tribe 110, of Reno, the only unit of its kind in the world, is made up entirely of boys who can't take part in normal activities. It's a Troop for shut-ins.

Boys like George Houx, who lost his right arm in an accident, and the Forbush twins, Ronald and Donald, who have had rheumatic fever, are typical members.

George is being taught to write with his left hand, and the twins are learning handicrafts they can follow without exertion. All activities of the unit are checked with individual family doctors for approval.

Men and women counselors have been trained by the Area Council and visit each of the boys once a week.

Normal scouting rules have been modified so that members can obtain regular awards. After a monthly court of honor, a counselor visits each boy who has earned an award and presents it to him in his home or hospital room.

Special permission from Scout headquarters had to be obtained for the unit. Its charter permits boys who recover and go on to normal scouting to retain their awards.

Like the other scouts, they make radio sets, model airplanes, scrap-books, and stamp collections. And they learn such scouting stand-bys as tying knots and the Morse code.

Good Future For Writers

Never Worry About Exhausting Ideas

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York, Sept. 30 — Master James Thurber, a man I admire greatly, has just done a piece for that journal of Elfin Whimsy and remembrances of childhood, the New Yorker, which has startled me into belated recognition of what a great racket I am tied to. I guess I just never fully realized the limitless possibilities of the writing dodge before.

Mr. Thurber's lead paragraph, for an article called "The Comparable Max: A Quandry" is the thing that set me to clapping my chubby fists and cooing with delight that I am not a doctor or a lawyer or a merchant or a chief. It says:

"We are a nation of critics, and when the New York Times book review asked me, early last month, to write about 'Chips Off the Old Benchley' (Harper, Sept. 21) I put aside my novel, my play and my sonnet sequence and set to work."

A Good Racket I presume the New Yorker pays writers for their stuff, which would lead me to believe that writing has finally flowered into a boundlessly lucrative golden age. Here you have Mr. Thurber writing a piece, for pay, for one magazine, about a piece he wrote for another publication, about a man who has been dead for years, but whose works are still being exhumed and sold to the public as fresh goods. I do not think you can beat this for getting the fullest mileage out of the old goose-quill.

I claim it is a pretty good racket when you can sell a piece about a piece you wrote for another publication, and highly indicative of the fact that an author's labor pangs are of interest to the reading public. What makes it so nice is that you never need to run out of creative gas.

For instance, I see no reason why Mr. Thurber cannot write a story about the story he wrote for the New Yorker, about the story he wrote for the Times Book Review, and sell this one to the Saturday Evening Post. Having them. They're a nuisance. And he doesn't want hunters climbing his barb wire fences to shoot at deer in his pasture. It's too hard on his cows."

IT'S JUST DUCKY, DEAR—Barnyard fashion expert Mary Lou Prentice of Chicago adjusts the bonnet she designed for her delighted duck friend. Duckie will display the millinery—cut from a printed poultry feed bag—in a forthcoming fowl fashion parade. Such fashion shows are being held throughout the country the next few weeks to select the "best-dressed fowl in the nation."

sold the post a story about the story he sold the New Yorker about the story he did for the Times, he can then relax a moment, take a deep breath, and hawk one to Collier's concerning the piece he did for the Post about the piece, et cetera.

When a man rubs his brains together, as a means of livelihood, his greatest fear always is that his inspiration will wither and his topics dwindle. Mr. Thurber's experiment would appear to lay that scribbling ghost forevermore. So long as a man can peddle the reminiscences of his ramblings he is in business until his typing finger wears down to the knuckle.

This would be of particular help to the folk who put out writing to dry five or six days a week. It seems to me that lately there have been less subjects around for learned commentary than when I was a youth in the business, and I had begun to fret and good step farther. He describes his thought process while debating a dubious reference. He tells of sharpening pencils, skipping luncheons, snarling at people and crumpling paper. He tells us of cutting out the passage that troubles him; of putting it back; of his disturbed dreams over the eventual handling by copyreaders, and by-and-by he has a full length article—an article about a paragraph.

We have our troubles in this business—the thoughts that won't jell. The sentences that don't parse, the inhumane editors and the sadistic copyreaders—but I had never thought of employing them commercially before. From now on I welcome trouble with my craft. One unkind word from my masters, one misstep by the printers, even one lousy little cleft infinitive, and I will put aside my novel, my play and my sonnet sequence and begot myself an article for the New Yorker.

A work stoppage at any one point in the atomic energy program would be devastating to national defense. The closing down of a single atomic plant might result in a great disaster for our nation.—Sen. Forrest Donnell (R) of Missouri.

New Snow Removal Method Patented

Washington — With winter ahead, and not too far away, an easy method of snow removal from city streets, for which a government patent was recently issued, is of interest. It uses a truck with a "melting pot" into which the snow is shoveled, to be immediately turned into water.

The melting pot is a tank or trough-like device, suspended within the truck body. Spanning the open top of the tank, a little below its sides, is a removable box-like heater or burner assembly. A gaseous or liquid container to the front of the tank supplies fuel to the burners. The water formed drains to the side, then to the bottom of the tank and out, if desired, to the gutter of the street.

The upper surface of the heater floor contains many upward-pointing sharp spikes. These break up lumps of snow or ice shoveled in, making melting easier. Hand shovels are not necessarily required; modern mechanical snow loaders may be used. The recipient of the patent, number 2,481,199, was Alex Cayas, Glendale, Calif.

Hot Packs On Back And Neck Make One's Blood Rush To Arms

Rochester, Minn. (SS)—Placing hot packs on the back and neck as well as arms and legs will increase the blood flow to the arms and may do so to the legs, five Mayo Clinic physicians have discovered.

The physicians found that hot packs applied to the arms and legs for 90 minutes had little effect. But when they added the packs to the back and neck there was a greater rush of blood to the forearms, although not to the legs. They believe that if the packs are left on for longer periods more blood could also be made to flow to the legs.

The Mayo Clinic physicians reporting to the American Congress on Physical Medicine are Edward M. Krusen, Jr., Khalil G. Wadim, Ursula M. Leden, Gordon M. Martin, and Earl C. Elkins.

Deer Go To City Hunting For Food

By HAL BOYLE

ed real cute, so they brought a pair back and turned them loose. Then somebody put out some more."

Protected for years by a closed hunting season and with few natural enemies to catch them, the beaver thrived like rabbits. And now, Kenwell says, they've got nature out of balance.

"The beaver is the death of the woods," he said. "They've dammed up the streams and flooded the natural winter quarters for the deer, leaving the deer nothing to eat."

Kenwell holds that the Otter, also increasing rapidly, is an equal threat to the fisherman's fun.

"An otter catches and eats about two pounds of fish a day, and fifty of them will get rid of a lot of fine trout."

The old guide puts much of the blame on "the cursed conservation rules." The state now has a two-week open season on beaver and otter, but Kenwell thinks it ought to pay a bounty for trapping the pests. And a bounty on bobcats, too.

"There's more of them around now," he said. "And as for bears—why there's ten times as many now as there were 40 years ago. The old bear hunters are gone, and the bears have their way."

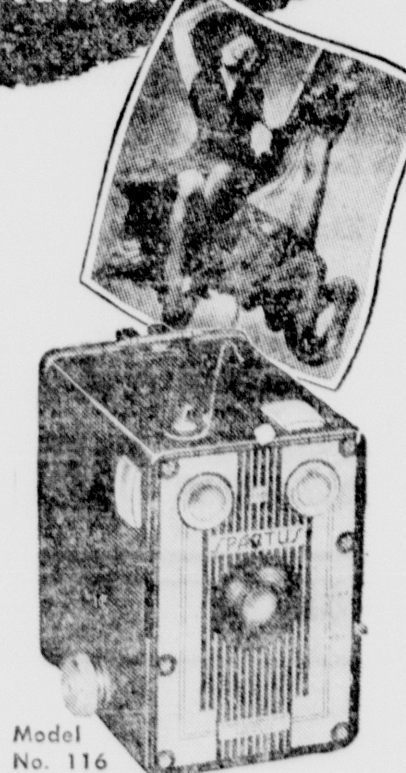

Some bruins raided his hunting camp this summer, smashed through a window and ate everything that wasn't in cans.

"The thing to protect is the thing that has value," said Kenwell, "not the thing that causes damage."

"I figure that for every deer shot in the hills, hunters spend $200. So it's the deer that has value—not the beavers, otter and bobcats."

"They say there's more deer now than there ever was. And that's true. But where are the deer? Down in some farmer's pasture, mixing with his cows, and looking for food. They're not in the woods. Some of 'em go right into the city, they're so hungry. 'The farmer wants to get rid of

Library Adventure

By Arnold Mulder

A WRITER NAMED Jean Burton has written the story in book form of one of the most picturesque business ventures America has witnessed in its whole industrial history. The title comes from a line in a famous doggerel. The Burton volume is called "Lydia Pinkham Is Her Name," and the story is that of the birth and growth of the famous, not to say notorious, business that manufactures the Lydia E. Pinkham Vegetable Compound, at one time allegedly a sure cure for nearly everything from fallen arches to "kidney trouble" and "liver complaint." In these days of government regulation its claims are more modest, but it is still widely believed to be a cure for "female weakness." That's vague enough even for government regulators.

Although the author has apparently had access to the files of the far-flung industrial organization that manufactures this proprietary medicine, the book was obviously not written as an advertising plug. While its intention is not of debunking the Vegetable Compound, it at all times skates so near to the edge of satire that the effect is that of thorough-going ridicule—ridicule of Lydia Pinkham, of her descendants who have conducted the business since her death, of the Compound, and particularly of the millions of people who have through the years contributed testimonials attesting to the merit of the Vegetable Compound.

THE STORY—of this business is a fascinating one. Lydia Pinkham and her husband had been living from hand to mouth but on great expectations for years. Then in the panic of 1873 they lost not only their shirts but their underwear as well. For years Lydia had been giving bottles of her home made medicine that she herself had concocted from powdered roots to women who had "female complaints."

When the crash came her three grown sons persuaded her to take money for the medicine. So she cooked up batches of it on the kitchen stove, and the boys peddled it and advertised it—at first in the home town of Lynn, Mass., but later in New York, Brooklyn, Boston, and finally through the power of advertising sales were extended to the nation and still later it virtually covered the globe. Whatever the Vegetable Compound may or may not be as a medicine, it has been one of America's great business successes, and today it still grosses in millions.

Prosecutors Asked To Curb Sex Crimes

Pontiac, Mich. (P)—Michigan's county prosecutors have been asked to join in a fight for a law to curb potential sex criminals.

Judge Arthur E. Moore of Oakland county issued the call. He is president of the Michigan Association of Probate Judges.

The judge said a new law would be proposed to the next session of the legislature. It would provide preventive medical services to all persons considered dangerous because of mental illness.

The law would ask six steps:

1—Temporary hospitalization of a person for observation and diagnosis.

2—Simplification of legal notices to patients and their families so they will be more inclined to favor enforced hospital care.

3—Permission for courts to use discretion in withdrawing or granting a patient's civil rights during treatment.

4—Provision that court records of commitment be private, though available to public officials.

5—Permission for a thorough review of the patient's case at any stage of hospitalization and requirement of regular medical reports.

6—Provision that a person who is cared for in a mental hospital need not be insane but must merely be suffering from mental illness which requires his hospitalization for his own and society's welfare.

ness sense. Also, the story is highly readable.

"There is now no law that permits prevention of a crime by the mentally ill," Judge Moore says, "even though you may be certain such a crime might occur."

Michigan does have a law that allows the commitment of mentally ill persons after they have been proven to be repeating sex criminals. But little more than 40 are hospitalized yearly under this act. And it cannot touch such persons as the killers who have committed shocking and brutal sex murders in Michigan this year.

Judge Moore said the trouble with the present law is that it operates after the damage is done.

"When a complainant comes to a prosecuting attorney and says the person in question has threatened him or is about to injure someone else, the prosecutor is powerless to act," Judge Miller said. "He must wait until the person has actually committed a crime or has become insane."

The difference between an insane person and a so-called sex deviate is mainly a matter of degree. Often the sex deviate appears entirely normal under most circumstances. Thus his illness remains hidden.

Judge Moore said, however, that an intelligent prosecutor or psychiatrist could often be certain that a particular person would commit a crime and yet that person could not be hospitalized for lack of a proper law.

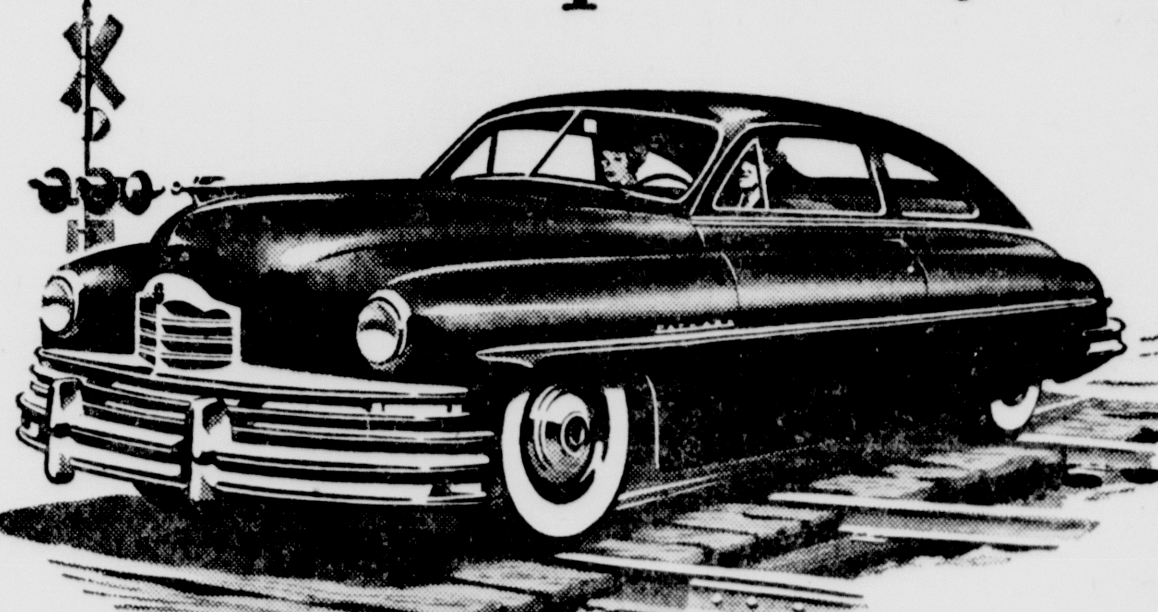

The judge made his petition for support in letters mailed to the prosecutors.

Packard calls it the "Limousine Ride," because many of its advancements were first developed for the magnificent Packard Limousine. But the first and foremost secret of its superiority lies in Packard's costly "self-controlling" suspension system.

"Self-controlling" means it compensates automatically for changes in load and road. "Self-controlling" means it combines relaxing smoothness with firm, level-keeled roadability. "Self-controlling" means it won't develop "baby-buggy bounce" in its later years!

All Nations Is
Theme Of Club
Opening Luncheon

The large group of members who attended the opening luncheon of the Escanaba Woman's club at the Golf Club found it a most delightful occasion. The tables representing the various nations all attractively decorated and festive in beautiful linens, glassware, silver, and china, were made especially gay with flags, figurines, flowers, and other articles befitting the countries they portrayed.

There was no mistaking Scotland's table with its Scotch plaid streamers, merry Highland lassies and laddies gaily carrying flowers, and little black scotties.

Ireland of course had a table with green as the predominant color, and was replete with flags of Erin, green candles, and a shamrock centerpiece surrounded with white asters. The linen tablecloth brought over from Ireland by Mrs. John Anthony had woven into it shamrocks, legends and county names of Ireland.

Decorated wooden shoes filled with tulips, tulip candles, traditional windmills, and little Dutch figures created a picture of Holland. Windmill lapel pins were given as favors to the guests at this table.

Family Heirlooms

Denmark's table was truly Danish with its place setting of silver that had been used in the Vagn Gydesen family in Denmark. Some of the other authentic Danish articles were a coffee pot and warming pan, heirlooms of Mrs. Torvald Strom's family, a child's pair of wooden shoes and an interesting blue bowl centerpiece from Copenhagen.

Flags of Sweden and Norway were used to designate the table of those two countries. Centered on a hand made cut work table cloth was a flower arrangement of blue and yellow asters laid flat around yellow candles in a candleabra, following out one of the ideas of Swedish table settings. An exquisite glass bowl, a unique set of sugar tongs, and the place cards used were brought over from Sweden.

The theme of "Gay Paree" was carried out in one table with its lace cloth and streamers of the national colors, red, blue and white. An animated orchestra on a podium playing merrily provided a Parisian atmosphere.

Mrs. Frank Karas decorated her table with a colorful cloth and napkins of red, blue, and yellow which she had brought with her from her native Czechoslovakia, as well as an heirloom flower bowl, flags, and mugs. The interesting inscriptions on the mugs translated said on one—"Dear wife don't be angry, it won't do you any good," and on the other "Dear hubby, don't be angry, I'll fix it with a kiss."

From Vienna

A heavy cut glass bowl from Vienna filled with zinnias graced the table of Austria. Here were to be found many interesting articles brought over from Austria by Mrs. Gideon Stegath, Jr., such as a Bavarian China coffee pot, little carved wooden figures of peasants, a jam jar, a silver pear containing a minute set of wine glasses, an unusual plate and a lovely cloth with lace inserts and embroidered in brilliant clusters of flowers.

There was a table for Egypt, Palm trees, camels of sandalwood, elephants of ivory hand carved, from Cuba and an alabaster miniature of a pyramid and the sphinx presented an exotic picture of the Middle East.

And there was a breath of the Far East, with a table from China. Complete with rice bowls, chop sticks, wine bottles, and wine cups, together with a Ming tree and mandarins all from China, the table presented an interesting scene from the East.

Coming closer to home was the table of Mexico with its brightly colored cloth and napkins, its highly colored pottery consisting of a sugar and creamer and a water pot.

The table of the good old USA was resplendent in the colors of our own red, white and blue. Red and white carnations, and flags arranged with greens on a

U. S. Fire Loss Shows Decline

Prevention Week To Be Oct. 9-16

By NEA Service
New York—(NEA)—The nation's fire loss, which has soared more than 130 per cent in seven years, is expected to drop this year for the first time since 1942.

As officials all over the country prepared for Fire Prevention Week, which begins Oct. 9, a preliminary estimate by the National Fire Protection Association figures the probable 1949 loss at $660,000,000, as against last year's record peak of $725,000,000.

The decrease, however, gave officials no cause to relax their fire prevention efforts. The 1949 loss will still be more than double the $315,000,000 worth of property destroyed by flames seven years ago. Percy Bugbee, general manager of NFPA, which sponsors Fire Prevention Week, views the decline as an indication more people are becoming fire-conscious and are following standard recommendations for eliminating fire hazards.

As proof that fire prevention measures will work, Bugbee cites the experience of Des Moines, Ia., which set out to see if the high record of roof fires, fifth-ranking fire hazard, could be curbed.

In 1935, Des Moines put into effect a city building code prohibiting future application of flammable roofing and requiring that asphalt shingles or other fire-resistant roofing be used.

When the new code was passed, city records showed that 52 per cent of all building fires in the preceding five years had been attributed to chimney sparks falling on flammable roofs.

Today, by steady enforcement of the code, the record of fires from that same origin has dropped to 11 per cent.

"All major hazards would be as easy to eliminate as flammable roofs," says Bugbee, "but unfortunately not all hazards can be fought successfully by legislation."

Carelessness among smokers, for instance, is one of the nation's top fire causes.

"Most fires are due to human carelessness of one kind or another," Bugbee points out, "and there's no way to write a law against that."

Horse And Buggy Woman Doctor Dies; Practiced 52 Years

Mason, Mich. (AP)—Dr. Gertrude O'Sullivan, 83, a woman "horse and buggy doctor" with 52 years of active practice in Michigan, died at her home here Wednesday.

A native of Webberville, Mrs. O'Sullivan decided to study medicine following the death of her first husband, Dr. A. B. Campbell in a typhoid fever epidemic.

After four years at the University of Michigan she interned at the women's hospital in Detroit, where she specialized in obstetrics for 15 years. She later moved to Port Huron where she married Rev. James A. O'Sullivan, pastor of St. Paul's church there.

She continued her medical practice at Port Huron where she became a health officer, city physician and a member of the school board. She helped organize the Women's Club, the College Club and the Women's Junior Organization there and was president of all three organizations.

Following the death of her second husband she returned to Mason and resumed medical practice here. She had a large practice million years have been planted on the west coast. The tree is the Dawn Redwood.

Many fossil specimens of the tree have been found in the West. It is thought it is the ancestor of the modern California Redwoods. Last year Dr. Ralph W. Chaney went to China and found the Dawn Redwood growing there. He brought back four seedlings and thousands of seeds.

In a trip up and down the coast this year Chaney planted many of the seeds in areas where the same type of tree grew millions of years ago.

Jeanette Wiegandt And Bernard Landis Exchange Vows

Miss Jeanette J. Wiegandt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alec Wiegandt, of Cooks, became the bride of Bernard Roy Landis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Landis of Isabella, in a ceremony performed Saturday, September 24 in Escanaba. The vows were exchanged before Justice Henry Ranguette at 11 a. m.

The bride was attired in a green satin street length dress with black accessories and a corsage of red roses and white baby mums. Miss Audrey Watchorn, a close friend, attended the bride wearing a gray suit with black accessories and a corsage of pink asters and white mums.

Jacob Landis, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

A wedding dinner for the bridal party and immediate families was served at the home of the bride's parents following the ceremony.

The couple left on a short trip after which they returned to Nahma Junction where they will make their home.

The bride is a graduate of Cooks high school, class of 1949. The bridegroom attended Nahma schools and is employed with the Soo Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Pilon of St. Ignace were out-of-town guests at the wedding.

New National Forester Here

E. R. Crook Arrives From South Illinois

Edwin R. Crook, recently in charge of the Shawnee National Forest in southern Illinois, arrived in Manistique recently and is now in charge as ranger of the Hiawatha National Forest. He succeeds W. D. Wilson who has been in charge of the local area for the past three years.

Mr. Crook is a graduate of Michigan State College, is married and the father of two children. They have already moved into the forester's residence on Lakeshore drive. The office building, which had not been used for about a year will also become national forestry headquarters.

H. G. Hansen, assistant national forester, has been in charge of the department for the past couple of weeks since Wilson left and Crook arrived.

Manistique PTA Groups Jointly Launch Season

The Parent-Teacher association opened the year with a joint session of the Lincoln and Central-Lakeside units Thursday evening. The meeting was held at the Central school at eight o'clock. Over a hundred parents and teachers attended to hear Belle Farley Murray of Detroit speak on Child Behavior. Mrs. Murray explained the several points on dealing with our children by the true experience of other parents. The five main points toward understanding our children Mrs. Murray stated are:

1—Always remember that our behavior speaks louder than words.

2—Try a little basic human kindness.

3—Put yourself in the other person's place.

4—Have confidence in your child.

5—Understand the child's urge toward independence.

An active discussion followed with the parents presenting personal problems and others offering valuable suggestions toward their solution.

The Central-Lakeside association voted to sponsor the Manistique Club Pack.

In the afternoon session, which was held at the Lakeside School at three o'clock, Mrs. Vera Gilser, Hillsdale, chairman of publications, had a display of Parents-Teacher Association material. She urged the officers and committee chairmen to make use of all such publications. Caroline Syfers and Mrs. Graham, Sault Ste. Marie, led a discussion on the problems of the local Parent-Teachers association.

Following the afternoon session, a delicious supper was served in the kindergarten room of the Central School for members of the executive boards of the two Parent-Teacher groups and their guests. On the hostess committee were Mrs. A. Hall, chairman, Mrs. E. Michelson, Mrs. Hans Olson, Mrs. Robert Hoar, Mrs. William Morden and Mrs. Rudolph Larsen.

Measurements Of Big Spring Taken By Park Manager

"How big is the Big Spring?" "What is its depth?" "How cold is the water?"

Dave Balbough, in charge of Palms Book State Park has been continually bombarded with questions of the sort and in seeking answers to them, found a wealth of data but very few reports that agreed. So on occasions when there was a slack in activities at the spring he took time out to do some fact finding himself. The measurements are in round numbers, but are reasonably accurate, he says. Here they are:

Length, 250 feet.
Width, 150 feet.
Depth, 40 feet.
Surface temperature, 42 degrees.
Bottom temperature, 40 degrees.
Flow from spring, 3,000 gallons per minute.

Sput Harvest In Full Swing

Yield Will Be Under That Of Last Year

The Schoolcraft county potato harvest, begun a few days ago, is now in full swing and according to local observers results thus far are highly satisfactory. Average farm yields, which last year, in many instances, reached the phenomenal stage, will not be so much in evidence this year.

The reason for a decrease in the average yield is ascribed to a peculiar season which for a long time was unusually dry and then extremely wet. In places where the drainage was poor the crop is short. In the Cooks area, where the soil is somewhat sandy and drainage good, the crop appears to be up to standard.

Potato picking and sorting machines are handling the crops with not nearly as much hand picking as in past years.

The quality of the potatoes is good.

New Altar To Be Dedicated

Special Services At St. Paul's Sunday

St. Paul's Lutheran congregation will dedicate a new altar, pulpit and communion railing purchased under the sponsorship of the Ladies' Aid society of St. Paul's at special services Sunday morning at 10:45 o'clock.

The new furnishings will replace home-made furniture which has served St. Paul's for exactly 21 years. The presentation will be made by a representative of the Ladies' Aid, Mrs. Charles Nordstrom, vice president, to an officer of the congregation, Louis Pampier, president, who then will turn the furnishings over to the pastor, Rev. Theophil Hoffmann, for dedication.

Following the special service a family dinner will be served at the church by ladies of the congregation for all the members and guests of the special dedication service.

The altar, pulpit and communion rail were purchased from the Sveboda Church Furniture Co., at Kewauene, Wis.

The height of the reredos is approximately 8' 8"; the side sections measure from 6 1/2' to 7' in height. The center niche of the altar is made to house a 3' 6" statue of Christ after Hoffmann with a 11 inch wide base and approximately 19 inches from finger tip to finger tip. The table is 6 feet by 3 feet and 3 inches and is built of plain red oak.

The pulpit is 4' 5" high from the nave floor to the top rail, 44" wide at the top with 21" opening. The floor of the pulpit is 14 inches above the nave floor. It has a stationary bible rest and is built of plain red oak.

The communion rail built of plain red oak consists of 3 foot long sections with a rail 18 inches high above the riser. The kneelers consist of cushions upholstered with dark red velvet, each section about 3 feet long and 2 inches thick.

Escanaba Eskymos, Menominee Meet In 52nd Annual Classic Here Tomorrow

Hinker Bell, Eskymo-Maroon Trophy, Makes First Trip Here

WILL IT STAY HERE—The Hinker Bell, a locomotive bell presented as a trophy for Escanaba-Menominee grid games a year ago by John Hinker, Menominee coal dealer, will make its first trip to Escanaba tomorrow. The bell came from a locomotive that was used by the Bay de Noquet company for their Nahma-Northern railroad in Delta county. Hinker received the bell from a friend at Nahma who sent it to him when the bell was replaced by a new one on the locomotive. "Inasmuch as this bell came from a railroad used in Delta county, it is only fitting that it should be used for the Escanaba-Menominee game," Hinker said. "It is also significant that the bell was used on a railroad whose principal operation was logging. The Menominee-Escanaba series is the oldest football series in the upper peninsula, dating back to 1897, which was in the lumbering days. It makes a significant trophy." The bell was won for the first time by Menominee last year by a score of 13 to 12 before 6,100 fans on Walton Blesch Field. It will remain in the possession of the winning school from year to year and the winner and score will be engraved on the bell.

1904 Eskymo Gridders Having 45th Reunion To See 52nd Annual Tilt Between Eskys, Maroons

By JIM WARD Sports Editor

Members of the 1904 Escanaba high school football squad, here for a big reunion in the 45th year since they won the state prep championship, will witness the 52nd annual game between the Escanaba Eskymos and Menominee Maroons at the local high school athletic field at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon.

This oldest high school football series in the Upper Peninsula began in 1897 and with the exception of 1898 and the World War I year of 1918, Escanaba and Menominee have met every year since. In 1900, they met twice, each winning one.

Victories in this interesting series, with few exceptions, have gone in streaks. Escanaba set the pace by winning four in a row from 1901 through 1904. Menominee picked it up in 1911 and won even in a row until 1918. The Maroons had another fine streak from 1927 to 1935, eight in a row.

Then the Escanaba Eskymos got into the swing of things and retaliated with seven in a row from 1937 through 1943.

Currently, the Maroons are enjoying another winning streak and whether it is snapped or prolonged here tomorrow afternoon remains to be seen.

It is interesting to note that Menominee holds the biggest margin in any single game, 53-0 in 1912, but Escanaba is only one point away from that. In 1941, Escanaba defeated Menominee, 52-0. It also has a 48-12 edge in 1945, the second largest total

Hornets To Battle '49ers Tonight

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP)—The top ground-gaining teams in the All America Football Conference—the Chicago Hornets and the San Francisco 49ers—will meet in Soldier Field tonight in a scrap for sole possession of second place.

The coast club has a mark of 362.5 yards gained per game while Coach Ray Flaherty's Hornets currently boast 313 per contest. The Hornets, now tied with the 49ers, each with three victories and one loss, will be out to average a 42 to 7 pasing at the hands of the 49ers on the coast.

Upwards of 30,000 fans are expected to watch tonight's battle.

Central Loop Drows 112,000 More Fans

Flint, Mich., Sept. 30 (AP)—Unofficial figures showed today that the Central league drew approximately 112,000 more spectators this season than it did in 1945.

President T. J. Hallinan said the official total will not be available for a week.

Charleston, W. Va., led with 206,000 paid including the playoff series. That compared with 32,000 for Fort Wayne, Ind. which Charleston replaced this year.

Grand Rapids showed a gain of around 25,000 and Saginaw was up 8,000. Dayton dropped 42,000 despite its pennant-winning team while Flint was down 29,000 and Muskegon, hard-hit by unemployment, was off 23,000.

Officials: Wallace Cameron, Gladstone, referee; Alvin Cummings, Kingsford, umpire; Arne Johnson, Norway, head linesman.

Team records to date: Escanaba defeated Soo, 7-2; Ironwood, 7-6, and lost to Norway, 12-7. Menominee defeated Merrill, Wis., 16-6; Kingsford, 13-6, and Calumet, 41-0.

Result of 1948 game: Menominee 13, Escanaba 12.

The spotlight in Upper Peninsula high school football will be directed toward the Escanaba athletic field tomorrow afternoon when the Escanaba Eskymos will battle the Menominee Maroons in the 52nd annual clash in the oldest prep grid rivalry in Upper Michigan. The game will start at 2:30 Escanaba time and will be preceded at 12:30 with a game between the Eskymo and Maroon reserve squads. A sellout crowd of 3,500 is anticipated.

Menominee, defending its mythical 1948 football championship, enters the game as top favorite. In last year's classic meeting at Menominee, the Maroons barely edged Escanaba, 13-12, one of the most interesting games in the long series.

Another is anticipated tomorrow afternoon. Both teams were hit hard by graduation and both are striving to keep pace with their predecessors.

"The squad remembers that game a year ago and they are dead set against an upset," Coach Radick said. "They know they are up against a team that has gained more yardage than three successive opponents, is strong on defense but lacks a touchdown punch. That punch may come tomorrow—just like it did a year ago."

"One thing is certain about this game," Coach Rouman said this morning. "We've been working hard to find a scoring punch and you can be assured the Eskymos will give their best in this game. You can bank on that. They're out to beat Menominee and they don't know the meaning of the word fear."

With the exception of the injured Dick Danielson, Escanaba will start the same offensive combination as started against Norway. Buddy Weber will occupy Danielson's quarterback slot.

The Eskymos went through an extensive session of polishing up plays and offensive work and capped it with a spirited but short scrimmage yesterday afternoon. They showed plenty of spirit.

Menominee's lineup is the same as that which has carried the brunt in three games to date. Only casualty on the Maroon roster is Roger Alberts, reserve center, who suffered a fractured little toe in scrimmage.

Anticipating a sellout crowd, Athletic Director George Ruwicht announced this morning that only 225 reserved seat tickets are available for this game. Persons desiring reserved seats should procure them without delay.

Best Stanford 11 Since War Ready For U-M

Stanford, Calif., Sept. 30 (AP)—The Michigan football squad is in town for tomorrow's contest with the best team Stanford University has fielded since the war.

Some 40 gridders arrived by plane at nearby Oakland last night.

Although majority opinion rates the Wolverines seven-point favorites, many West Coast experts think the new, sophomore-studded Stanford squad will win.

If the Indians lose by only seven points, it would still be a great improvement since 1902 and 1947. In each of those years, the Michigan team rolled up 49 points against them.

Some 70,000 fans plan to see the battle. The stadium seats 90,000. A Stanford victory tomorrow would do a lot for the prestige of the far west in the football world. Although coast teams have been winning more and more inter-sectional games lately, a top Big 10 team has yet to bow to a coast conference squad since the war.

Stanford's right guard, Joe Jacobs, was declared definitely out of the contest. He injured a thumb in Wednesday's scrimmage which turned out to be broken, not dislocated. Coach Marchie Schwartz described it as a heavy blow to the Indians.

The Wolverines will complete their pre-game labors with a light drill in the Stanford Stadium this afternoon. Tomorrow they'll be trying for their 25th straight football victory.

Gladstone Reserves Host To Rock '11' Tomorrow

Gladstone, Sept. 30 — Coach Keil's "Wildcats", the Gladstone high school reserve football team will play Rock here Saturday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock.

It will be the first game for the locals while Rock has two games under its belt.

Ken Gunderman and Steve Baltic will officiate.

Indianapolis Cops Its First AA Title

Milwaukee, Sept. 30 (AP) — The Indianapolis Indians, runner-up to St. Paul in the regular American Association season, won their first league playoff title last night.

The Indians earned the right to represent the Association in the "Little World Series" against Montreal of the International league by beating Milwaukee, 9 to 5.

The victory was the fourth in the best of seven for the Indians against two Milwaukee wins. The Brewers lost the first three games of the final playoffs at Indianapolis but won the first two contests on their home field.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Philadelphia—Ermino Bonetti, 134, Milan, Italy, outpointed Jimmy Collins, 133½, Philadelphia, 8.

New York (Sun-Side, Garden)—Beppe Colasanti, 134, Rome, Italy, outpointed Guillermo Gimenez, 139 3/4, Argentina, 8.

Portland, Me.—Hermie Freeman, 135½, Eagle Lake, outpointed Willie Beltram, 138, New York, 10.

HERE THEY ARE—STATE CHAMPIONS—On a sunny autumn afternoon in Ann Arbor back in 1904, the champions of the Upper Peninsula (nobody in these parts could touch them), the Escanaba high school football team, played the champions of the Lower Peninsula of Michigan, Mount Pleasant, for the state prep football championship. Escanaba won that game, 15-5. They gave five points for a touchdown in those days. Here are the gridders who turned the trick. Most of them are here for a reunion in the 45th football season since that memorable state championship year. Top row, left to right, Clarence Carey, manager; Robert Mead, John Loell, Mike Walsh, Hubert Bessex, John Woodhams, coach, and Jim Tolan. Second row, left to right, are Dr. H. L. "Mike" Mead, Clarence Lehr, Pete Semer, Tom

ESCANABA DAILY PRESS SPORTS "It Seems To Me" BY JIM WARD

After calm, careful consideration and consultation with our well-guarded crystal ball (we take it out of the vault and into the prophet's dark room for this weekly ordeal), we have come to the conclusion that—

Munising will take Stephenson, 20-13. The Mustangs' Jim LeVaque is the explosive type, fast and dangerous in an open field. This Mustang will do all right tomorrow but Munising will find the Steves a stubborn foe.

Norway and Iron Mountain are due for a 13-13 deadlock. Like two bucks locking horns in a battle to the finish, these two old rivals will wind up in a stalemate. Norway is high, sure, and the "bear" stories out of Iron Mountain have Olivanti, Hosking and St. Arnaud all but on the shelf at the new VA hospital in Iron Mountain, but we can't see anything but a tie. And that's not dodging the issue either. We follow the dictates of the crystal ball.

Wakefield is too good for Crystal Falls by a 27-20 margin. Falls will go all out in this encounter, but the Wakes have a bit more rugged a team.

Newberry, especially at home and with Roy Gustafson coming into his own in the last two games, is too good for a luckless Manistique team. The Emeralds are overdue but Newberry has shown enough to be rated a 20-6 winner over 'Stique.

Ishpeming and Negaunee will battle right up to the final gun, and it's difficult to rate these two teams on past performances. Their neighborly scrap each season doesn't hinge very much on previous performances. But Ishpeming's 13-0 win over Marquette last week Negaunee was bowing to Munising, 6-0, made us a believer. It's Ishpeming by 13-6.

Ontonagon is 2-1 over Houghton and will win this by just that margin. The final score will be Ontonagon 26, Houghton 13.

Hancock looks like a 20-6 winner over Baraga. Baraga hasn't won a game yet and by tomorrow night that situation will still exist.

This hurts! This is like swimming the English channel and coming within a stone's throw of the White Cliffs of Dover and then having the tide carry you back to mid-channel while you're covering a lot of surface water.

We turned that crystal ball upside down, sideways, rightside up, pointed it toward the east, the west, north, south but always when it pointed toward Menominee, it shook its head.

Here's one we'd like to be wrong on. Really wrong. And the Eskymos may prove us wrong. They're capable of it, believe us. But it looks too much like the Maroons will keep that string intact tomorrow. The score? Menominee 20, Escanaba 13.

Cuff notes: Harold Lindsay will introduce the 1904 state champions between halves of the big game here tomorrow. . . Sports writers down state are going to have a lot of fun with the name of Willie Thrower, an MSC frosh grider. . . He's a Negro pass expert who already is considered the catch of the new group. . . That fellow Shaheen Shaheen Shaheen is back again. . . Scribes are going to write his name at MSC with algebraic symbols, Shaheen to the third power.

Gary Burley, small Munising half, looked good in NMCE's opening game last Saturday. . . That item in the column the other day about Don McCauley, Muskegon Chronicle wire editor, was sent in by C. C. Strickland, Ravenna school superintendent, former principal at both the Gladstone and Escanaba high schools. . . We see by the papers where Ty Cobb, baseball immortal, took unto himself a bride and planned to take her to the World Series on their honeymoon.

Colonel Winn's Condition Takes Turn For Worse

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 30 (AP)—The condition of Col. Matt J. Winn, 38, impresario of the Kentucky Derby who recently underwent two major operations, took a turn for the worse early today.

Authorities of St. Joseph Hospital said Col. Winn was "a little weaker."

Winn, president of Churchill Downs, developed the Kentucky Derby into the top thoroughbred racing spectacle of the nation after a syndicate which he headed took over the Downs in 1902. As a boy of 13 he saw the first derby run in 1875 and has witnessed every one since.

Braves, Marquette Tangle For League Leadership Tonight

Gladstone, Sept. 30—Gladstone and Marquette football elevens battle for the leadership of the Great Lakes conference tonight under the lights at Marquette. The opening kickoff is at 8 o'clock.

Neither team has been defeated this season, although the Gravenracks record has been marred by a tie.

The Redmen have defeated Kingsford, Ishpeming and Mun-

Newberry, 'Stique B Teams Clash

Manistique, Sept. 30 — The Manistique reserve football team will be host to the Newberry reserves here tonight.

All of the players are either freshmen or sophomores and thus far have seen little action, but Robert Hussy, the local reserve coach, is confident the game will be an interesting one to watch.

The two teams are evenly matched. Both have played Negaunee and lost, Manistique by a score of 12 to 6 and Newberry by a 13 to 0 score.

The starting lineup for Manistique will be Ray Cummings, Dick McKenzie, George Hough, Francis Ekdaal, backfield; Jim Jackson and George Bouscher ends; Bob Nelson and Russ Wood, tackles; Herb Peterson and Howard Strassler, guards; Bill Corson, center.

ing while getting a draw with Newberry. Gladstone has had little trouble in winning from St. Joseph Parochials (Escanaba), Munising and Manistique.

Things aren't looking too rosy for Don Pfotzner's crew for both the fullbacks, Ralph McGary and Don Pada, are on the injured list. Larry Leveille is being converted from halfback to fullback to fill the gap.

Bucky Walters Does Not Know Whether He's Manager or not

Cincinnati, Sept. 30 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds—with or without a manager—headed toward Pittsburgh today and the final series of a season that has found them confounding the predictions only to the extent that they may finish seventh instead of eighth.

They're two games ahead of the eighth place Chicago Cubs with only three games to go.

But most of the uproar today concerned Bucky Walters. Bucky was relieved yesterday as manager of the Reds for the 1950 season. There still was no word as to whether he would direct the club in the final three games against the Pirates. He headed toward Philadelphia and said he'd think about it on the way.

Bark River '11' Set To Battle St. Joe Tonight

The Bark River-Harris and St. Joseph's Escanaba elevens will square off at 8:30 tonight under the lights at Memorial field in a game to see whose streak will be broken and whose will remain intact.

Bark River is working on a winning streak and St. Joseph's would like very much to snap a losing streak. They figure to win this one by a substantial margin, but Coach Paul DeBen and his Barks have other designs on the outcome.

Tonight's game officially is a Bark River home game. All of which means, that St. Joseph's season tickets can not be honored. Fans with such season tickets are advised to have on hand the nominal amount of shekels when they enter the game.

The Trojans are raring to chalk up a win after successive losses to Gladstone, Laona, Wis., and Marinette Lourdes. Bark River has stopped Rock and Stephenson B and wants very much to keep that slate clean.

Because of the popularity of night football demonstrated when 2,500 turned out for the St. Joe-Gladstone opener, a large crowd is anticipated. The 2,500 is the largest crowd ever to witness a St. Joe game.

Now Then! Tigers, Tribe Will Settle Third Place

Detroit, Sept. 30 (AP)—Detroit's hustling Tigers and the Cleveland Indians tangled today in the opener of a three-game series that will decide which team will wind up in the No. 3 spot in the American league race.

The Tigers had a one-game edge as they sent Hall Newhouse to the mound, while his old rival, Bob Feller, was named to work for Cleveland.

This is how the clubs stood before today's game:

|           | W  | L  | Pct. | GB |
|-----------|----|----|------|----|
| Detroit   | 87 | 64 | .576 |    |
| Cleveland | 86 | 65 | .570 | 1  |

If the Tigers win two of the three games, they will retain their third place standing with a final lead of a game and a half.

If they lose two, the Indians will take over the No. 3 spot with a final percentage of .575 against Detroit's .565.

If either team sweeps the series, it will automatically take third place.

The weatherman promised good weather for the Friday game but indicated it might rain Saturday afternoon. In that case, the teams might play a doubleheader Sunday.

Newhouse went after his 19th win today and the Tigers will let Virgil Trucks try for No. 20 tomorrow. In the series and season finale, Ted Gray may get a chance to go after his 11th win.

The Tigers were cheered by the return of George Kell who took over his third base spot today after being on the injured list because of a thumb injury.

PREPARE FOR NEWBERRY — Manistique, Sept. 30—Fully recovered from a flock of injuries that had slowed down the team and disorganized the lineup, the Manistique Emeralds are looking forward hopefully to their tilt tomorrow afternoon at Newberry. Coach Vierever states that he is not contemplating any shift in the lineup.

Brooklyn Belts Braves Twice To Take National Lead As Cards Bow To Bucs

By the Associated Press
 The Brooklyn Dodgers held the upper hand in the National league's pennant scrap today while the American league's scramble remained a dead heat between the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees.

Brooklyn, pre-season favorite to top the National's bunting, roared into the lead yesterday by mopping up the 1948 kingpin Boston Braves, 9-2 and 8-0, while the St. Louis Cardinals lost again to the Pittsburgh Pirates, 7-2.

The Dodgers killing in Boston boosted the Brooks half a game ahead of the Cardinals. Brooklyn has two games left to play with the third place Phils in Philadelphia while the Cards have three to go with the last place Cubs in Chicago.

While the Dodgers ascended to the top of the National league, rain kept the Red Sox and Yankees tied for blue ribbon honors in the American league.

New York's game with the Philadelphia Athletics in the stadium was rained out as was the encounter between the Red Sox and the last place Senators in Washington.

The two American league contenders are scheduled to play off their washed out games today. If rain again intervenes the games will be canceled, as the Yankees and Red Sox are scheduled to open a two-game series in the stadium on Saturday.

Brooklyn had no trouble in whipping the Braves yesterday. The Braves were in the game for only three innings in the opener and they might as well have "stood in bed" for the nightcap.

Warren Spahn, the National's only 20 game winner, gave three to go with the last place Cubs in Chicago.

The Braves had some fun in the fifth. With Tommy Holmes up, Connie Ryan strode to the batter's circle wearing a rain coat. Home the first three with his 23rd home run. Carl Furillo provided an anti-climax two innings later when he socked a three-run homer over the center field barrier. The 400-foot plus drive was Furillo's 18th out-of-field smash of the season.

The nightcap was settled before Sibby Sisti stepped up to open Boston's half of the first inning. The Dodgers wheeled into Johnny Sain, Boston's 1948 pennant pinup boy, in their half of the first, scoring five runs.

The game, played in a drizzle, was called after the fifth inning. Don Newcombe fanned the last three Boston batters.

Newcombe's victory was his 17th of the season. He held Boston hitless until the fourth when they nicked him for two safeties and followed up with two more blows in the fifth.

The Braves had some fun in the fifth. With Tommy Holmes up, Connie Ryan strode to the batter's circle wearing a rain coat. Home the first three with his 23rd home run. Carl Furillo provided lit a fire on the steps of their dugout in a gesture of protest.

Little Murry Dickson, a once beloved member of the Cardinal pitching staff, spiked his former mates' pennant hopes.

Dickson hurled a brilliant six-fitter while the Pirates banged Gerry Staley, Howie Pollet and Ted Wilks for nine blows. It was Dickson's fifth triumph of the year over the Cards.

The Pirates broke a 1-1 tie with a four run rally in the sixth. Pete Castiglione singled home the first run to put the Pirates in front, 2-1, and Chase Staley. Pollet took over and was greeted with a two-run double by Monte Basgall. Basgall scored the fourth run when Red Schoendienst threw the relay from the outfield over Catcher Joe Garagiola's head.

The Cleveland Indians trounced the Chicago White Sox, 8-3, in the only other game played in either league. Home runs by Larry Doby and Bob Kennedy were the deciding factors.

Usually Mild Mack Of A's Blows A Fuse

Mad At Accusation That Team Lying Down For Yanks

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Mild Earle Mack of the Philadelphia A's is the latest to blow a fuse in the temper-popping heat of the pennant races.

Earle, 57-year-old son of venerable Connie, is all in a dither about a flood of wires and "fan mail" accusing the A's of "lying down" against the New York Yankees.

Telegrams and special deliveries, addressed to Connie Mack, poured into the visitors' clubhouse at Yankee Stadium yesterday while rain washed out the ball game.

The A's lost the first two games of their final series with the Yanks. Mr. Mack had nominated Phil Marchildon, a sore-armed pitcher all summer, to work the last game. Much of the criticism was directed at that selection.

Son Earle opened the mail and tore each letter into small bits. He fumed and sputtered. His father was home in Philadelphia because of an upset stomach and Earle didn't want him to see them.

"Look at all these," he said, pointing to the mail. "Why they even accuse us of lying down. We try to keep them from dad but I'm afraid he saw some. It's damned nasty—terrible stuff."

"This is a great game and it's a shame to accuse you of letting another club win a pennant. Some of them even say we're not trying because dad gave out a story one day picking the Yanks. Never before did we get anything like this. It's terrible stuff."

As a result of "excessive criticism," Earle said he would switch from Marchildon to Dick Fowler for today's game. Marchildon "worked" against Boston, Sept. 2 when he was knocked out in a five run first inning. His start against the Yanks was designed as a "fair play" move.

Earle, as assistant manager, does the master minding when 86-year-old Connie is absent.

Lambeau Steps Down As Green Bay Coach

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 30 (AP)—Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau stepped down as head coach of the Green Bay Packers of the National Football League today after 30 years at the post.

Lambeau said he would continue as vice-president and general manager of the Packer Corp., but was turning over all field work to his three assistants — Line Coach Tom Stidham, Backfield Coach Bob Snyder and Defense Coach Charley Brock.

The veteran coach, who founded the Packers and has coached the club since 1919, said he will devote his time to rebuilding the team and to the "manifold duties" connected with his position in the front office.

"Under this arrangement," Lambeau said, "I feel I can do the ball club more good."

The Packers last year had their most dismal season in the club's long history, winning only two of 12 league games. They dropped their league opener this year to the Chicago Bears last Sunday after winning only two of five exhibition games.

1950 Softball Plans Aired In Escanaba

Plan To Eliminate Home Teams Meeting In First Round

Paul Vardigan, Escanaba softball district commissioner, intends to present a plan at the coming U. P. softball meeting in Ishpeming which will eliminate home town teams meeting in the first or second rounds of U. P. softball tournaments.

He explained it at the eleventh annual softball dinner in Escanaba Wednesday night.

"The plan is this," he said. "The larger districts, Escanaba, Marquette, Ironwood and Iron Mountain, each will be allotted three entries in each of the classes A, B and C."

"The smaller districts in the Copper Country and the Soo will be allotted two entries in each class. That will provide a perfect bracket of 16 in each class, and the tournament management can pair these in such a way that no two teams from the same town will meet in the first round or even the second round."

This has been a major complaint of past tournaments. Escanaba, Soo and Iron Mountain got what was referred to as a "raw deal" in the recent U. P. tourney in Ishpeming, and it has happened before. It was pointed out.

Vardigan also told the 150 softball enthusiasts gathered in the American Legion clubhouse that the U. P. may have a Class D tournament and that he favored retention of Class A ball in the U. P., particularly after the fine showing of the Liberty Loans in the state meet this season.

A. A. Doucette, chairman of the board of control, said the board was aiming toward an improved ball park at Memorial field.

Among those introduced at the dinner-meeting were Cliff Beaudin, sr., Homer LaCosse, Earl Haddy, and short talks were made by Ken Gunderman, Tony Flynn, Jim Ward, Denis McGinn, who has long been called the "father of softball" in Escanaba, and by Mayor Robert LeMire who complimented the association on its fine work and said it was doing much toward providing healthful activity for hundreds of persons, both spectators and players, and toward minimizing juvenile delinquency.

McGinn said the association is an "avenue of good" in the community.

Phil Brazeau, president, conducted the meeting.

U-M At Crossroads Against Stanford

Ann Arbor, Mich., Sept. 30 (AP) Michigan stands at a familiar cross road today.

A narrow 7-3 victory over Michigan State College has again raised a question in the minds of fans as to just how far Michigan can go in the 1949 football campaign.

Some are sure the slim opening win indicates the Wolverines will lose from two games upwards. Others are just as sure the nation's mythical champions will pull themselves together and begin to roll against Stanford University tomorrow.

Partisans point to last year's performance as an indication of things to come.

Back on the corner of Michigan State and 1948, the Wolverines stood in much the same position. Behind, a narrow 13-7 win over MSC. Ahead, the tough Oregon

Big Ten Football Really Starts To Roll Tomorrow

Chicago, Sept. 30 (AP)—The 1949 Big Ten football season really starts to roll tomorrow with three league games while Michigan, Minnesota and Northwestern take on non-conference foes.

Wisconsin, a big ten dark horse, will attract a good share of the fans' attention when the Badgers and Illinois make their league bows at Champaign. The Illini were spotty in playing a 20-20 tie with Iowa State last week, while Wisconsin romped over Marquette, 41 to 0.

In other conference games, Iowa plays at Purdue and Indiana opposes Ohio State at Columbus.

Since the Wisconsin-Illinois series began in 1895, each team has won 11 games, while three meetings ended in ties.

Ivy Williamson, Wisconsin's new coach, sent his offensive unit through a long heavy passing drill and worked to sharpen the punting of Bob Petruska and Lisle Blackburn Jr., in their final drill. The Badgers were to stay overnight in Chicago tonight before entraining for Champaign tomorrow morning.

Meanwhile, Coach Ray Elliot of Illinois said that Tony Klimmek, regular left end who had been nursing an infected arm, will be able to play against Wisconsin. The Illini tapered off with a long session of punting, passing, kickoff and signal drills yesterday.

Notes from the other big ten camps:

Indiana—The Hoosiers lost Mel Becket, sophomore center, who suffered a chipped ankle bone shortly after he had been promoted to the second string. However, Coach Clyde Smith said after yesterday's drill, "Indiana is better prepared for this game than it was for the Notre Dame game."

Ohio State—Coach Wes Fesler converted two Buckeye tackles to defensive guards. Jimmy Clark, left halfback, who suffered a shoulder separation in the Missouri game, will be out of the Indiana game.

Purdue—The Boilermakers worked on defensive tactics and after the workout Coach Stu Holcomb said he will bank on the same offense against Iowa tomorrow that was used against Northern Western. However, he indicated one chance would be to play Don Jackson at left guard.

Iowa—Coach Eddie Anderson and 36 Hawkeyes left early today for LaFayette, Ind., after a heavy defensive drill yesterday. He said Lou Ginsberg will probably start at one guard position in place of the injured Bob Laga.

Minnesota—The Gophers were due to fly to Lincoln, Neb., today for the game with Nebraska. Coach Bernie Bierman said Buster Mealey will make his first start in the Gophers tomorrow as an end in place of the injured Jack Zupetz. Most of the last practice session was devoted to kickoffs.

Michigan—Two DC-6 transport planes carried the 164-man Wolverine delegation to Palo Alto for the game with Stanford. Included in the party was a 35-man playing squad, coaches, alumni, and some rosters. The Wolverines are after their 25th straight victory.

Northwestern—A light tapering off drill ended the Wildcats' preparations today for Pittsburgh. Tom Worthington and Don Burson went through a long punting drill in yesterday's workouts.

Hare Are Odds In Nation's Top Grid Tilts

New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—Notre Dame and Michigan are favored to extend their long unbeaten streaks tomorrow at the expense of Pacific Coast opponents.

The fighting Irish, who haven't dropped a decision since Great Lakes beat them 39-7 in the 1945 final, ruled a 27-point choice over Washington at Seattle.

A more interesting afternoon is expected for the National champion Michigan Wolverines, who are a scant seven-point favorite to win their 25th straight against Stanford's Sophomores at Stanford.

The resourceful Wolverines had trouble in their opener last week with Michigan State, winning 7-3 but they are renowned as slow starters.

Army, Oklahoma and California are other powerhouses who are top-sided favorites in weekend games as college football vies with the hottest double-barreled Major League baseball finish in history.

Oklahoma Liked

The Cadets, tied only by Navy last year, are host to Penn State and are a solid two touchdown favorite.

Oklahoma's split-T Magicians, who romped over Boston college last Saturday night, are rated 27 1/2 points better than Texas A and M in the game at Norman, Okla.

California's Golden Bears rate a 14-point edge over Oregon State in their Pacific Coast clash.

In the East, other headline games are figured this way: Brow 12 1/2 over Holy Cross; Cornell 14 1/2 over Colgate; Navy 6 1/2 over Princeton; Pennsylvania 6 1/2 over Dartmouth.

North Carolina, Tulane and Tennessee are favored to win the big games in the south.

The N. C. Tarheels, with Charlie (Choo Choo) Justice at the throttle, are figured 6 1/2 points better than Georgia in their entanglement at Chapel Hill.

Tulane is 14 1/2 over Georgia Tech despite the Yellow Jackets' good showing in upsetting Vanderbilt last week. The rebounding Tennessee Vols are 6 1/2 over Duke. Mississippi rules a one-touchdown choice over Kentucky.

And Minnesota

Southern Methodist is expected to win an inter-Conference test with Missouri, a 7 1/2 point underdog. Rice is an 18-point favorite over Louisiana State and Baylor is 7 1/2 over Mississippi State.

Northwestern, Minnesota and Ohio State are favored to prevail in major Mid-West battles.

Northwestern's Rose Bowl champions are a three touchdown pick over Pittsburgh. Minnesota is 28 points over Nebraska and Ohio State is rated 24 points over Indiana.

In Coast games, Oregon is a slight favorite over UCLA, which has won its first two starts impressively, and Southern California is a three touchdown pick over Washington State.

The UCLA-Oregon game at Los Angeles headlines the Friday night card. In other major games tonight, Boston College plays Wake Forest at Boston, Georgetown is at Maryland and Villanova is at Detroit.

Sports Roundup

Here's Another Yarn About 1904

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.
 New York, Sept. 30 (AP)—So you think the Yanks and Red Sox are having a close pennant race? ... You're right, but take a look back to 1904 when the Red Sox and the New York Highlanders were having the same kind of tussle. ... The facts and figures are by courtesy of historian Ernie Lanigan.

On Sept. 25, 1904, the Highlanders led the Red Sox in percentages, .619 to .615. ... The next afternoon New York lost a doubleheader to Cleveland and Boston, with Bill Dinneen and Cy Young pitching, took two games from Detroit to go ahead. ... The Highlanders whittled that to one game on the 27th and regained the lead on the 29th by beating Detroit while Boston lost to Cleveland. ... On Oct. 2 they came out even with .610 averages, but the Red Sox, who had played more games, went ahead the next day by one point and stayed there until they met the Highlanders on Oct. 7. ... Then Jack Chesbro outpitched Gibson 3 to 2, and the Highlanders took a half game lead. ... The next afternoon the Red Sox whipped their rivals in a doubleheader, 13-2 and 1-0, with Dinneen and Young again pitching. ... The oddity here was that the games, originally scheduled for New York, were played in Boston because owner Frank Farrell had rented the Highlanders' park to Columbia for a football game. ... Chesbro, who was the first game loser, was not supposed to make the trip but was taken along when he showed up at the station. ... They didn't play Oct. 9, but on the tenth, the last game of the season, the Red Sox clinched the pennant by beating New York, 3-2, in the opener of a doubleheader with Dinneen again outpitching Chesbro. ... And if you think it wasn't pretty good baseball, out of 28 games played by the contending teams in that stretch, eleven were shut-outs.

Canton Defense Line Stiffened

Reds Dig In North of Refugee Capital

By SPENCER MOOSA

Canton, Sept. 30 (P)—The Chinese Nationalists were reported today to be pouring more reinforcements into the Kungong area to block the approaches to Canton.

Kungong is 125 miles north of the refugee capital.

Communist guerrillas harassed Nationalist positions near Yanfa, just north of Kungong. Across the border in Kiangsi Province, Red regulars waited to strike. A large irregular force was reported assembling near Yanfa, 20 miles north of Kungong.

Near Chihing, 25 miles east of Kungong, forward elements of Red regulars were digging in to meet a Nationalist attack along the Kungong-Chihing road.

Canton newspaper readers were treated to simultaneous reports the Reds were retreating from Chihing—and being reinforced.

The military news agency said part of the Communist 11th Army moved from Anyuan to Tingman, still on the Kiangsi side of the Kiangsi-Kwangtung border, about 140 miles northeast of Canton. Lack of food and illness among the troops were said to have cut down the army's speed.

Left-wing Laborites In Britain Calling For General Election

By EDWIN SHANKE

London, Sept. 30 (P)—A group of left-wing laborites called today for a general election soon on the heels of yesterday's solid vote of confidence for the government's crisis policy in parliament.

Even as the House of Commons registered a smashing 342-5 approval of the Attlee regime's action cutting the value of the pound sterling, a leading labor organ urged the government to call an election for November, instead of serving the full five-year term which expires next July.

It was the first open demand from an important segment of the labor party for a "snap" election and set members of parliament wondering whether their seats may be at stake within a matter of weeks.

The publication is the Tribune, a weekly journal edited by Michael Foot, a member of the labor party's executive committee, and Jennie Lee, wife of fiery health Minister Aneurin Bevan. Bevan also is a member of parliament.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Sept. 30 (P)—Soybeans and hard moved upward on the Board of Trade today, taking over the market's leadership from the basic grains. Soybeans opened on gains extending to nearly two cents and held good part of this upturn in later dealings. Corn eased. With the necessity of obtaining cash grain for delivery on September contracts now over, some traders suspected demand for cash corn might be less aggressive. December wheat recovered a bit from yesterday's weakness while other contracts showed little change. Wheat near the end of the first hour was 1¢ cent lower to 1/4 higher, December $2.14 1/2; corn was 1/4 to 1/2 lower, December $1.15 and oats were 1/4 lower to 1/2 higher, December 67 1/2. Soybeans were 1/4 to 1 1/2 cents higher, November $2.28 1/2, and hard was 20 to 35 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $11.10.

Report Of Finding Lost Italian Fliers Discarded As False

New York, Sept. 30 (P)—Mysterious "mind waves" and international double-talk touched off a useless ocean search for two missing Italian fliers yesterday.

Planes and ships joined in a renewed hunt after flash of word indicating the aviators were alive and afloat near the Bahama Islands.

The rescue operations were called off later in the day when it developed that a "message" supposed to have been sent by the fliers was received by a doctor in Rome via "telepathic currents"—not by radio.

Garbled version of the doctor's report gave momentary hope that the two Italians—John M. Bronello and Camillo Barigoglio—might still be alive after being missing 12 days.

The fliers left the Azores Sept. 16 in a small, single-engine plane and expected to arrive in New York the next day.

Defeated Democrats Named To Economic Development Agency

Lansing, Sept. 30 (P)—Two of the defeated Democratic candidates at the spring election were appointed to the state economic development commission by Governor Williams today.

They are Burr E. Sherwood of Stambaugh, the losing candidate for superintendent of public instruction last April, who succeeds Alfred J. Cayia of Manistique and James Bolan, Adrian plant executive and losing Democratic candidate for the State Board of Education who replaces George S. Clarke of Grand Rapids.

Sherwood is Iron County superintendent of schools. Lawrence Walsh, Ontonagon attorney and director of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, was named to succeed Gervase T. Murphy of Calumet.

Williams reappointed to the commission August Scholle, state CIO president.

Former Kalamazoo Resident Admits He Gave Away $15,000

Washington, Sept. 30 (P)—A former Michigan machinist who tipped a taxi driver $7,800 is held in a hospital here today for mental observation.

Police said that Cornelius Laroy, formerly of Kalamazoo, admitted giving away $15,000 of his $21,000 fortune.

They quoted him as saying that he came here to get a passport to South Africa, which he claimed was his birthplace.

He said he had no more use for money and had given away all but $6,000, which he had put in a bank. The beneficiaries included three taxi drivers, some waitresses and a race track.

Laroy appeared voluntarily at police headquarters to tell his story.

A brother, Robert Laroy of Kalamazoo, advised officers by telephone that Cornelius had been in poor health recently. They are now trying to recover the money.

Michigan Outdoor Education Praised

Pontiac, Mich., (P)—More than 60 national leaders in education, recreation and conservation ended a three-day conference at Haven Hill Lodge Wednesday urging that the Michigan system of outdoor education be expanded nationally.

Robert M. Howes, chief of the recreation branch of the Tennessee Valley Authority, sought to have the conference recommend that national leadership of promoting outdoor camps within school curricula be taken over by a non-governmental agency.

On objections that this represented the "too-common American fault" of distrust of government, the recommendation was modified. The conference recommended that "all government agencies should assume their rightful obligations in this important program and that aid from private agencies be welcomed."

During the conference, the group limited itself to examining the year-old Michigan program of concentrating on encouraging camps for high school youth.

Yesterday, they visited a camp at Cedar Lake where such a project was operating. They were supplied with reports on six other camps conducted since the pilot high school camp in Yankee Springs state recreation area was started a year ago.

Under the joint leadership of the Michigan department of conservation and public instruction, local school systems are encouraged to send groups of students to camp for a week of instruction in the outdoors. The departments and the school systems cooperate in supplying instruction and leadership.

Roaring Fire Kills 7 In Kansas City Home

Kansas City, Sept. 30 (P)—A fast-moving fire roared through the interior of a two-story frame house in northeast Kansas City early today, killing seven persons and injuring four.

Approximately 20 persons lived in the house, many of them aged. Many of those who escaped fled from the flames in their night clothes.

Cause of the blaze has not been determined. Dead were Mrs. Florence Richards, 65, Mrs. Cora Andrews, 68, Owen Richards, 45, Lorraine Ellis, 17, Mrs. Myrtle M. Hershey, 23, and her two children, Myrtle Marie, 9, months, and Cletus M. Hershey, Jr., 26 months.

Former Flint Mayor Ill At Miami Beach; Trial Delayed Again

Miami, Fla., Sept. 30 (P)—A new delay in the often postponed trial of William McKeighan, former mayor of Flint, Mich., was in prospect today as the result of a stroke which his attorney said McKeighan suffered last week.

McKeighan is in "bad shape" at his Miami Beach home and "probably won't be able to appear" in Michigan for trial, Attorney William J. Pruitt announced last night.

The former Flint official was scheduled to go on trial Nov. 22 at Mt. Clemens, Mich., on gambling conspiracy charges.

Flying Boxcar Starts Oregon Forest Fire

Olympia, Wash., Sept. 30 (P)—A C-82 flying boxcar from McCord Air Force base crashed and burned last night, starting a forest fire.

Three men were reported manning the big twin engine ship. No bodies were found in or near the wreckage.

The crash occurred in a heavily forested area five miles northwest of McCleary, Wash., between here and Grays harbor.

State Patrol Sgt. Stacey Mattson radioed from the scene that the wreckage was strewn over five acres of wooded terrain, but that no bodies were located, indicating those aboard may have parachuted into the forest.

The state patrol reported the forest fire later subsided after a forestry service fire wagon from Shelton, Wash., and the fire department from nearby Elma responded.

McChord officials said the C-82 was on a routine night training flight.

ards, 65, Mrs. Cora Andrews, 68, Owen Richards, 45, Lorraine Ellis, 17, Mrs. Myrtle M. Hershey, 23, and her two children, Myrtle Marie, 9, months, and Cletus M. Hershey, Jr., 26 months.

Dance Schedule For Parochial Students Told

Escanaba parochial school students who are in grades one through six will receive dance lessons each Friday afternoon at the Franklin school, it was reported today by Mrs. Jeannette LeCaptain, dance instructor for the city recreation department.

Students in junior and senior high school work at the parochial schools will be taught dancing at the Escanaba junior high school beginning at 4 p. m., each Tuesday.

In addition, tap dancing classes scheduled for Saturdays are also open to parochial students.

State Bar Launches Poll For Repeal Of New Grand Jury Law

Detroit, Sept. 30 (P)—The Michigan state bar, backed by convention disapproval of the state's new grand jury law, today hinted a repeal movement against it.

In a bitter floor fight yesterday, delegates approved, 167-154, a special committee report attacking the law. It was recently revised to do away with the one-man grand jury system.

The amendments to the grand jury law, the report said, make it "ineffective, unworkable, impossible and lifeless."

But before convention action is

Marine Assault At Boston Fatal To Photographer

Boston, Sept. 30 (P)—Morris Fineberg, 56-year-old veteran Boston Post photographer, was killed and four others, including three naval officers, were injured yesterday in a mock marine and navy amphibious assault on a Boston bathing beach before thousands of spectators.

Fineberg was struck by a fragment from an exploding mortar while photographing the demonstration staged at Carlton Beach in South Boston as part of the Marine Corps League national convention.

James L. Callahan, Boston Globe photographer, said he was standing about five feet from Fineberg when the latter was struck on the head by a piece of shrapnel just as 1,500 marines from the Second division were splashing ashore to "secure" the beach.

The assault landing was termed "an outrage" by Boston Police Commissioner Thomas F. Sullivan.

final, bar members said, a mail poll of the association's 4,500 members will be conducted. A repeal movement presumably would take shape after a confirmation vote.

Governor Suggests Banks Pay Interest On State Accounts

Lansing, Sept. 30 (P)—Governor Williams suggested today that State Treasurer D. Hale Brake make Michigan banks pay the state interest on more than $32,000,000 in state funds which they hold.

The governor said he was "encouraged" to make the suggestion because Brake reported in his annual statement that the state had earned more than $1,000,000 by "judicious investment" of the special funds belonging to the state treasury.

Williams said he noted from the same report that Brake listed more than $2,000,000 as "dormant" accounts in some 200 state banks which were not paying any interest.

Gov. Dewey Has Rest At Owosso, Prepares For Stumping Tour

Owosso, Mich., Sept. 30 (P)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York rested at his mother's home here today before returning east to take the stump in his state's heated senatorial election campaign.

He arrived in his native city Thursday morning, via Flint. Shortly after his arrival he announced that he would take the given in to Murray. Unofficially it's the 14th largest steel producer in the nation. But it employs only 4,000 of the 500,000 unionists.

US Steel, the industry's giant, hires 160,000 about one-third. Any agreement with U. S. Steel would undoubtedly set a pattern for the rest of the steelmakers.

Federal mediators feel they can get Murray and U. S. Steel together. They're going to try in conferences throughout the day and night.

Murray was jubilant yesterday in announcing Portsmouth's capitulation. It was the first crack in the solid industry front against the free pension-insurance plan.

But nowhere else did industry knuckle down to the union terms. And as the strike deadline approaches the picture grows bleaker. A steel shutdown, economists hint, could start a slide toward recession.

A steelworker walkout would push the nation's strike-idle past the million mark. Some 480,000 coal miners have been idle nearly two weeks.
